VERIGIN HEARD IN PROTEST AT MONTREAL

Reports to Newspaper Return to Russia

Police Guard Him As He Travels

Ship Carrying Him as Deportee Is to Leave Halifax Tomorrow

Canadian Press
Montreal, Feb. 2.—On his way to Halifax, from where he will be deported to Russia, Peter Verigin, leader of Canada's Doukhobor sect, passed through Montreal today by train. He had been brought from Prince Albert penitentiary, where he had been confined since last May for perjury.

Guarded as he was by officers who tried to block reporters from seeing him, newspapermen overcame the difficulty.

One of them knew some Russian and "was through the use of this that Verigin gave vent to his feelings."

"Do you want to go to Russia?" the reporter called.

"No," the Doukhobor shouted in his own language.

"Do you know why you are going back?"

"No."

Verigin is under sentence of death here, according to his own testimony when he was being tried for perjury.

The deportation will have an air of mystery about it. Verigin is at present in waiting for the documents relating to the Verigin case to be tabled. Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, answering question from J. E. Woodsworth, labor, Winnipeg Free Press, stated that he would table the papers as soon as possible.

ACE IN PROGRESS

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Racing against time, a trim monoplane took off from the Stevenson Airport here today in great effort to overtake Peter Verigin, overlord of Canada's Doukhobor sect, before he is deported to Russia.

Verigin, whose removal from the Prince Albert jail was accomplished yesterday with great secrecy, arrived in Montreal today, en route to the seacoast.

Aboard the plane, which left shortly before noon, was Peter G. Makarov, Verigin's personal secretary. At Halifax they hope to complete final arrangements for "disposition" of the Russian Community of Universal Brotherhood and also Verigin's personal affairs.

At Chicago the pair expected to be joined by J. P. Shukin of Brilliant, C. vice-president of the Doukhobor settlements in Canada.

With twenty-four hours' start, immigration officials planned to reach Halifax with Verigin on Friday. Makarov and his companions, carrying permission from Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, to see Verigin, expected to ground their plane at the Atlantic airport early Friday afternoon.

They left schedule called for a landing at Chicago at 7:50, central standard time, this evening. There a second plane was chartered to reach (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

PLAN JOBS FOR 200,000 IN U.S.

Roosevelt Tells of Scheme For Vast Internal Development in Tennessee Valley

By Francis Stephenson, Associated Press Writer
Warm Springs, Ga., Feb. 2.—A gigantic experiment designed to provide 200,000 jobs and herald the birth of a new United States from which the curse of unemployment would be lifted was proposed today by President-Elect Franklin Roosevelt.

The rugged highlands and fertile industrial valley of the Tennessee watershed were chosen by the next President for this "most interesting experiment" a government has ever undertaken.

NOTED DENVER FIGURE PASSES

G. Bonfils, Publisher of The Post, Was Responsible For Teapot Dome Investigation

Denver, Feb. 2.—Fredrick G. Bonfils, publisher of The Denver Post, whose picturesque career had been linked with many of the spectacular events of the Rocky Mountain region for the last quarter century, died today at his home here.

Death came unexpectedly, following brief illness due to a complication of influenza and an ear infection. He underwent a minor operation last Saturday, but not until yesterday evening did his condition become serious.

Bonfils came into the national spotlight ten years ago when the activities of The Denver Post resulted in uncovering the Teapot Dome oil scandal. The Post's investigations, unscrupulous leads which led to Congressional investigations and court action.

Always a fighter, Bonfils gave personal direction to details of The Post organization and supervised the many crusades the newspaper carried on.

Groundhog Fails for Five Years—Branded a Fakir

Associated Press
New York, Feb. 2.—The groundhog-like the Eugene hat, is out—definitely passed.

Dr. W. Reid Blair of the Bronx Zoo exposed him to-day as an ardent fakir.

As the story goes, should the groundhog throw a shadow on February 2—King Winter's reign will be prolonged, no shadow, no snow in the very near future.

But Dr. Blair says the little animal, in plain language, an infernal liar, so an anxious populace will have to get along as best it can with the regular weatherman's predictions.

Secondus, the woodchuck, short and stout, was whisking heady eyes at visitors in the mammal house as Dr. Blair blasted:

"He has failed us for the last five years. He will not get the opportunity to do it again today."

So he stayed in his house.

FIGHTING RED FORCES

Canadian Press
Hongkong, China, Feb. 2.—Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, directing operations against Chinese communists in the province of Kiangsi, will be reinforced by 30,000 fresh troops, word from Canton said today.

IT WAS ALL A CASE OF TIME

Groundhog Could Have Seen His Shadow Before Lunch But It Was Dull Later

One Groundhog Falls Into Lake and Drowns; Toronto Delighted Winter Over

Everything and everybody were casting shadows early to-day so if there were any stray groundhogs around Victoria and they dragged themselves out into the open they must have gazed upon well-defined shadows. All of which means, according to the old story, that Victoria is not yet out of the shadow of winter and spring will be a long time coming.

But if the groundhog was late and did not poke his nose outside until after lunch the possibility is he did not see his shadow, in which case spring will soon be here.

But whether or not the groundhog proves to be a good weatherman, Victorians felt quite pleased with themselves as they moved about in the clear, crisp air and enjoyed the sunshine. It was quite a change from the dreary rains of recent months.

There is considerable snow on the Sooke Hills, a fair north wind blowing and a prediction of the weather men at Gonzales Observatory that there will be frosts at night for a little while.

PREDICTS SKATING IN PENNSYLVANIA

Gobbler's Knob, Pa., Feb. 2.—The groundhog came out of his hole on Canoe Ridge today, saw his shadow at exactly 9:31 a.m. and, with a couple of sniffs, predicted skating in March.

The old fellow, whose predictions are anxiously awaited by a breathless world from one February 2 to the next, seemed a bit thin and emaciated, but he denied that the depression has anything to do with his appearance.

After squaring himself around so as to cast a good, clear shadow, the weather sage said:

F. COOKE DIES IN ESQUIMALT

Well-known President of Board of Trade Passes Away Suddenly

Frank Cooke, resident of Esquimalt since the war and active worker on several of that municipality's public bodies, died suddenly at the family residence, 1144 Esquimalt Road, this morning.

News of his death came as a distinct shock to many of his friends in the district who did not know he was ailing.

Mr. Cooke, formerly a partner in Yates and Co., was very active in public life in Esquimalt. He was a charter member of the Esquimalt Board of Trade and was one of its first presidents. For the last four years he had held that post.

Two years ago he entered the municipal lists to contest the reevehip but was defeated after an exceptionally close race.

Last week he was re-elected president of the Canadian Pensioners' Association of Victoria by acclamation.

Mr. Cooke had served overseas with the Western Front.

Born in Oxford, England, he came to Canada at an early age and had been here for the last thirty years. Before going to Esquimalt, Mr. Cooke lived at Grand Forks and Saskatchewan. He is mourned by the widow at the family residence.

JUDGE ORDERS DUKE TO JAIL

Canadian Press
Margate, Eng., Feb. 2.—When the Duke of Manchester failed to appear in court here today on a judgment summons issued by a hotel at Broadstairs, Judge Clements issued an order committing him to prison for forty-two days and imposed a fine of £10 for contempt of court. The Duke's present whereabouts are not known.

The Duke of Manchester is father of Lord Edward Mountbatten, a witness at the trial of William J. Guy on a charge of slaying Capt. Walter Vandervell, which started in Long Beach, Cal., today.

ANTI-WAR PACT IN SOUTH AMERICA

Mendoza, Argentina, Feb. 2.—Plans were made today for Argentina, Brazil and Chile to join in the initiation of a South American anti-war pact in a ceremony at Buenos Aires.

Argentina, which proposed the pact, already had Brazil's agreement to the plan when the widely-heralded conference opened here.

A plan is being drafted to bring the undeclared war between Paraguay and Bolivia to an end.

C. H. LOUGHEED, CALGARY, DIES

Son of Lady Lougheed and Late Sir J. Lougheed Succumbs in Hotel

Canadian Press
Calgary, Feb. 2.—Clarence H. Lougheed, eldest son of Lady Isabelle Lougheed and the late Senator Sir James Lougheed, was found dead in bed in a local hotel today. Death was due to natural causes, according to a physician who examined the body.

Mr. Lougheed was born in Calgary July 29, 1885, and was educated in schools here. Later joining the law office of R. B. Bennett, now Canada's Prime Minister. In 1908 Mr. Lougheed was called to the Alberta bar, the same year becoming a partner in the law firm.

In 1911 Mr. Lougheed was elected a director in the firm of Lougheed and Taylor, brokers and financial agents.

He was a member of the Canadian Army Service Corps, later joining the headquarters staff and becoming a major.

Mr. Lougheed was a member of numerous clubs and organizations, in 1925 being elected president of the International Association of Grey Clubs.

He is survived by the widow, formerly Miss Jennie Cameron; his mother, Lady Isabelle Lougheed; one sister, Mrs. J. M. Hutchinson, of Edmonton, and two brothers, one in Calgary and another in Vancouver.

EMERGENCY U.S. TARIFF FLAYED

Commission Chairman Warns Against Boost Aimed at Depreciated Currencies

Washington, Feb. 2.—In a vigorous assault on Republican plans for boosting the United States tariff automatically against depreciated currency countries, Robert L. O'Brien, tariff commission chairman, told a House committee today that "if you want an embargo on ahead and back it, but let us do it honestly and intelligently."

He recommended to Republicans, who have forced a House vote February 19 on this issue, they "accept leadership of Secretary Ogden Mills of the Treasury, whose latest speech on the gold standard clearly indicates his opposition."

"In his plans for recovery," O'Brien said, "I do not see our great financial minister advocating this plan."

"Everyone who votes February 13 for the 'Crawther Bill' is expressing a belief that countries off the gold standard are better off economically," he said.

CHIEF WORKS AT LOWER SALARY

Vancouver Police Head Continues to Serve City Under New Ruling

Vancouver, Feb. 2.—Chief of Police C. E. Edgett does not intend to quarrel with yesterday evening's decision of the board of police commissioners to reduce his salary. Taking the position of chief more than a year ago at a salary of $7,500, C. Edgett now sees his salary at $4,500.

"I confess I don't like to see Vancouver cutting away under the figures of cities like Winnipeg and Seattle, but if there is a need for Vancouver to retrench, then I make no objection and will continue as long as I am allowed to fulfill my obligations to the citizens of Vancouver," said the chief today.

Chief Edgett was recently suspended by Mayor Louis D. Taylor on general charges of inefficiency, and the police commission will hear the mayor's charges next Monday.

The suspension followed a long period of dissension between the mayor and chief, which has aroused considerable civic feeling on either side.

ULSTER RAIL MEN STILL ON STRIKE

Canadian Press
Belfast, Northern Ireland, Feb. 2.—Officials of the railway union whose men are on strike in protest against a wage cut, today disclaimed responsibility for the week near Dundalk yesterday in which two persons were killed. Railway officials asserted, however, they were convinced the wreck had been caused by sabotage.

The strike situation has not changed materially today. Bus drivers employed by the railway companies were called on to join the strike, but little curtailment in bus service was noted.

HOT DEBT DEBATE IN U.S. SENATE

WORK POLICY TO BE FIXED

City Plans to Utilize Relief Labor on Constructive Projects

Preparation of a constructive policy for the use of relief labor in the city this year will be proposed by Mayor Leeming at the meeting of the public works committee to-morrow.

One of the first steps in the programme will be to obtain from the relief office a statement of the number of men-hours available for work, and steps will then be taken to use the labor profitably.

The main factor in relief jobs, the mayor pointed out this morning, is to keep the cost of materials as low as possible, since the expenditure is designed to give help to unemployed persons. The city must absorb the full cost of materials while the governments contribute to the payment for labor, which is received in exchange for relief.

One of the projects under consideration at the present time is the completion of the block on Mountain Street, between Cook Street and Fernwood Road, thus opening a new travel arterial to the northeast section of the city.

DEFICIT OF U.S. IS $1,217,721,031

Washington, Feb. 2.—The United States Government ended the first seven months of its 1933 fiscal year with a deficit of $1,217,721,031, having collected from all sources $1,198,503,910 and spent $2,416,222,941.

The deficit for January 31 amounted to $20,801,707,134, an increase of almost $3,800,000,000 in the total in twelve months.

Dr. Durant Arrives To Speak On Russia

Famous Author and Philosopher Will Tell of What He Saw in Soviet Republic

Savant Finds People of Russia Have Forgotten How to Laugh

Dr. Will Durant, noted author, philosopher, world traveler and lecturer, reached the city by the afternoon boat from Seattle and will speak on "What I Saw in Russia" this evening at the City Temple.

The distinguished visitor was met at the boat by Robert Cronie, publisher of The Vancouver Sun, who will act as chairman at the lecture.

Dr. Durant spent two months in Soviet Russia last summer. He will impartially relate his observations and impressions on conditions as he actually found them in Russia. No one is better qualified to talk on the subject of Russia than Dr. Durant, who has made a special study of human history over a long period of years.

He knows the Russia of pre-war days, having visited the country in 1912, and the Russia of today under Soviet government.

When Dr. Durant sailed from Victoria on July last for the Orient en route to Russia he announced that he hoped to find something in the Russian experiment in communism which would be helpful to humanity. He entered Russia by the back door via Siberia in the capacity of an observer. He directed his observations on governmental affairs, public utilities, conditions affecting all classes of Russians and the attitude of the Russian people to the communistic venture.

DISILLUSIONMENT

That there has been a general disillusionment regarding the communistic experiment is apparent from Dr. Durant's remarks.

FORTY-ONE NEW DWELLINGS BUILT

New buildings erected in Victoria last year, including one-story dwellings valued at $78,100, according to the annual report of James Barr, building inspector, which will be submitted to the City Council next Monday.

Five one and one-half story dwellings were erected with a value of $17,500, one two-story structure costing $2,500 was built and eight apartments and duplexes costing $36,400 in all were erected.

The total value of building of all classes was set at $309,678.

The revenue from the department, including plumbing inspection and license fees was $2,437.05.

DOLLAR IS 85 ON EXCHANGE

Canadian Press
New York, Feb. 2.—Staging a rally on the foreign exchange market here today, the Canadian dollar closed 1 1/2 cent stronger, at 85 cents (United States premium of 17 1/2 per cent). The pound sterling ended the day 3 cent higher at $1.30 1/2 for cables.

Exchange rates at noon today, as quoted by the Canadian Press, were:

Dr. Durant Arrives To Speak On Russia

Dr. Durant's recently published articles, Russian peasants do not take kindly to living in the collective heresies. "When I first visited Russia in the Czarist regime there was poverty and privation, but the people appeared to be happy," said Dr. Durant. "They had forgotten how to laugh."

"If you're a woman, stay out of Russia," he advises. "The Russian woman is emancipated, but her emancipation means merely that she does two jobs instead of one. Men there haven't heard of women's rights. They still beat their wives as a matter of course."

"Her equality with the male means that she does his work as well as her own. She keeps the same hours in the factory, she nurses her children, she cooks the meals, does the household duties and is his servant. Of course, she can get a divorce, but so can he. It usually ends in the woman being deserted, while the man is left free to do as he pleases."

Dr. Durant is the author of a number of books, including "The Story of Philosophy," "Transition," "The Meaning of Philosophy," "Adventures in Genius," "The Case For India" and "On the Meaning of Life."

The last named book is the result of replies to letters which he sent to 100 prominent citizens of the world, summing up mankind's present pessimistic attitude and asking each of them what he or she thought of the purpose of life. Hitler Clamps Ban On Communist Meetings

The chancellor's nation-wide appeal yesterday evening for a "four-year chance," in which he attacked the Republic parties, met with a stormy response. The Social Democratic organ Vorwarts scathingly criticized the speech, declaring his "four-year plan" is a new catchword borrowed from Stalin.

Yesterday's deaths due to disorders, mostly between Communists and Nazis, reached seven. At Bochum, Prussia, Nazis demolished a Socialist newspaper's premises. Since Hitler came into power Monday, more than a score have been slain and several times as many injured.

The Nazi chieftain spoke only in general terms of his two four-year plans.

"The idea of compulsory labor service and farm colonies constitute the main pillars of this programme," he said, describing one as the "salvation of the German worker through a colonial and comprehensive attack on unemployment."

SCORES REDS

The long-standing warfare between National Socialism and Communism was reflected in the chancellor's proclamation, in which he bitterly inveighed against the Red movement and called on the people to combat it.

"One year of Bolshevism would destroy Germany," he said. "The section of the world representing the richest and most beautiful culture in the world would be changed into chaos."

PUNISHED FROM ABOVE

In another part of the proclamation he declared that since the "days of teachers" fourteen years ago, the Almighty has withdrawn His blessings from our people.

BIG CHANGES IN TRADE FIGURES

Washington Reports U.S. Canada and U.S.-Britain Totals For 1932 Down

Canadian Press

Washington, Feb. 2.—The two-way trade between Canada and the United States during 1932 declined by more than $23,000,000 as compared with the previous year.

A Commerce Department report issued to-day shows the United States bought, roughly, $72,000,000 less from Canada last year than in the previous twelve months, while the Dominion's purchases in the United States market declined by approximately $19,000,000.

In 1932, the report shows, Canada purchased United States goods to a total value of $241,424,702, a precipitous drop from the 1931 figure of $260,248,300.

The decline in the flow of goods from the Dominion southward was just about one-half as great as the sharp drop in business flowing in the opposite direction. In 1932 the United States bought Canadian products to a value of $174,101,308, against imports worth $260,248,300 during 1931.

TRADE WITH BRITAIN

There was also an enormous contraction in trade between the United Kingdom and the United States. The United Kingdom bought $288,462,805 worth of United States goods last year, against $453,273,613 in 1931, while the United States imports from the United Kingdom in 1932 totaled $74,688,706 in value, against $139,452,411 the previous twelve months.

Despite that trade was greatly decreased, Europe continued to be not only the best customer of the United States in 1932, but to supply more of this country's wants than any other continent.

The Commerce Department, in announcing the value of the exports and imports for 1932, today reported total exports worth $1,419,305,818, as compared with $2,424,288,588 in 1931.

Await Ruling On Conspiracy Charge

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 2.—Decision was deferred until Saturday by Magistrate W. M. McKay in police court on conclusion of the trial of J. Henry J. Wilhelmsen, M. Hunt and J. Toes, who are charged with conspiracy to defraud Alfred Kastings.

Detectives who investigated the alleged conspiracy on the complaint of Kastings, who said he had been invited to enter the narcotic drug business and had paid $240 to avoid arrest by an "officer," gave evidence.

The accused took the witness stand in their own defence and gave lengthy evidence regarding their dealings with Kastings.

SAYS LIBERAL VICTORY SURE

Alderman W. H. Kinsman Tells Ward Five Liberals Outlook Encouraging

Stressing the importance of efficient organization as a step towards the winning of provincial elections, Alderman W. H. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, yesterday gave a brief address before the Ward Five Liberal Association at the Liberal headquarters, Government and Broughton streets. J. L. White, president of the ward association, occupied the chair.

The Liberal Party has excellent prospects of capturing the Victoria seats in the B.C. Legislature, provided every effort was made to secure a strong turnout at the polls, the speaker was assured by Alderman Kinsman.

The ward executive committee was strengthened by addition of the following members: W. C. McEwen, Miss Audrey Hannay, Mrs. J. S. Akina, Mrs. J. L. White, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Moffatt, W. Fairclough, R. B. Simms, W. McLaren Jr., Mrs. John Murray, Mrs. F. G. White, Mrs. Collin Campbell and Mrs. S. Cote.

Vote Is Against Rail Amalgamation

K.C. president of the C.P.R. and Gerard Ruel, formerly vice-president of the C.N.R., it remained for the committee not to hear S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the C.N.R., who would be operating under the terms of the bill and his opinion on its effectiveness was necessary.

VIEWERS DIFFER

Senator James Murdock, an Ontario, found his views differed from those of Senator Dandurand, his leader.

"The difference between Mr. Murdock and myself is that he represents special interests, and I represent general interests," said Senator Dandurand. "Mr. Murdock represents employees of the railways and I represent the taxpayers of Canada."

(Senator Murdock is vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.)

It was a fact, said Senator Murdock, he had been associated with railways for forty years, twelve years as a business on freight trains, but there are some of us who have regarded him (Senator Dandurand) as representing the bankers.

"What have bankers to do with this?" asked Senator George Lynch-Staunton, Conservative, Ontario.

"They have a great deal to do with it," replied Senator Murdock. "Then I say, humbug," countered Senator Lynch-Staunton.

"The banks have been calling the tune for years," declared Senator Murdock. "The principle of the bill was to cut the (second) 10 per cent wage out. The railways did not want it. The railways did not think it was necessary, but the banks said they had to do it."

Mr. Murdock earlier had insisted representatives of the railway economy committees of the C.N.R. and C.P.R. be heard to-morrow, and also that the committee adhere to that principle of parliamentary procedure which dictates that when a bill has been given reading and referred to a committee, the principle of that bill has been accepted. If the committee desired to go beyond that it must return to the Senate for further instructions.

THE YOTE

The chairman, Senator Graham, ruled a registered vote should be taken.

Those voting for the preamble were: Senators Balfour, Bouchard, Calder, Copps, Dandurand, Donnelly, Forke, Gillis, Gordon, Graham, Green, Griesbach, Hatfield, L'Esperance, Lewis, Lynch-Staunton, MacArthur, McLean, Rankin, Raymond, Robinson, Spence and Stanfield. Against, Senator McLennan.

The committee then proceeded with the bill clauses by clause, and came to the question of the transfer of the railway property to the state.

Following a lengthy interchange, the committee yesterday afternoon decided that on Friday forenoon it would hear testimony of the chairman of the two economy committees of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways.

It was agreed to summon these officials with a view to securing from them a statement of the progress the railways had made in the way of effecting economies in line with the resolution passed by the senate committee last November.

The question of summoning S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the C.N.R., precipitated a lengthy discussion in the course of which the committee traversed its views for and against consolidation of the two systems as opposed to "competitive co-operation."

In the opinion of Mr. Hohn, George B. Griesbach, chairman of the committee, a decision on these points should be given now. The committee, however, disagreed with that, many members expressing themselves as not prepared to cast a vote one way or another until more consideration had been given the question.

Finally the matter of Mr. Hungerford's appearance was solved by Senator James Murdock reading to the committee testimony presented by Mr. Hungerford to the royal commission on transportation.

B. R. HANNA'S VIEWS

When he stated his views at yesterday's session, D. F. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railway from 1918 till 1923, opposed limitations of the proposed board of trustees to direct the affairs of the Canadian railways to three members and declared himself in favor of five.

Mr. Hanna also expressed opposition to the proposed arbitral tribunal whose function it would be to enforce co-operation between the C.N.R. and Canadian Pacific.

Equally antagonistic were Mr. Hanna's views against any suggestion the two railway systems be amalgamated.

Mr. Hanna would have a board of five trustees, headed by a chairman who had a knowledge of the railway business in Canada. One would be a legal man, another a competent financial man and the remainder successful industrialists.

BOARD DECISIONS

Instead of creating a tribunal to enforce co-operation, Mr. Hanna would continue to have all railway matters under the Board of Railway Commissioners.

His opposition to amalgamation was emphatic. He believed that if the C.N.R. were conducted with rigid economy, it would still be successful, but there should be no more spending money on steamships, hotels, golf courses and the like.

MEADDO SCALE

It was Jim's wages that brought on deficits," said Mr. Hanna, referring to

Will Not Resume Before Monday; Citizens and Business Men Worried

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Feb. 2.—The local coal mines closed down yesterday evening and will not operate until Monday morning. Nanaimo business men and citizens are worried over the condition of the coal trade, more particularly at this period of the year the mines should be working steadily instead of three days a week.

George Gray, former Nanaimo soccer star and at present playing for Westminister Royals, is an inmate of the local hospital, suffering from an attack of appendicitis. Gray is improving according to latest reports.

The prestige of spaniels as society dogs is increasing if the American spaniel club show in New York is any criterion, for the show had the largest entry list in history. One of the outstanding exhibitors was Mrs. William Dwyer, who is shown with three of her entries, Wilmarland Miss Jean, Wilmarland Starlight and Wilmarland Gingham Girl.

Mr. Roosevelt expects this huge laboratory experiment to provide employment for 200,000 men in the Tennessee Valley alone.

More than this, he hopes to carry the scheme into other sections of the nation and through it to re-establish life on a new basis—a people protected by the watchful eye of a government.

FLOOD CONTROL

The great Tennessee Valley project has been half a dozen years in the making. Reclamation; creation of flood-control basins in the upper valleys; waterpower development to be available for cities, states and farm homes; reclamation of the fertile bottom lands for agricultural use; elimination of the unprofitable marginal lands from farm pursuits; eventual flood control of the great Mississippi River; eventual improvement of navigation.

Confidence the whole project will be self-sustaining, Mr. Roosevelt has no doubt of the "bankability" of it and the availability of bonds for the undertaking.

POWER CHARTS TELL KING'S POPULARITY

Power charts prove that tens of thousands of British Columbians heard the Christmas Day radio message broadcast by King George.

The revenues of British Columbia Electric Railway Company, in Vancouver alone, were increased by sale of over 5,000 additional horsepower during the hour the re-broadcast from England was in progress. The Victoria demand showed a proportionate increase.

The power curve fell to normal within a few minutes of the conclusion of the re-broadcast, indicating the sudden demand was exclusively created by a desire to hear King George.

$280 Roll of Bills Left in Gambler's Pocket; Appeal Court Reviews Case

Justices of the Court of Appeal to-day heard the details retold of the hold-up of a Chinese gambler last summer at Chemainus by five men and how guns were blazing and bullets flying so that residents of the town were keeping within doors.

The five men were sentenced to three years for robbery with assault by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald after a trial in Nanaimo last October.

To-day Frank Higgins, K.C., counsel for two of the men, Chong Hoy and Jung Hing Kam, appealed against their own sentence on the grounds that they had not participated in a robbery, but only in a sort of factional assault.

"The other three men struck their victim, they held him down and put areas in his mouth, but there is no proof of robbery," said Mr. Higgins. "They had come from Vancouver to Chemainus looking for work. Their victim is a well-known gambler up there. He says in evidence himself that they touched his pockets, but

bentures Paid in London and New York

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 2.—Payment was made by the City of Vancouver yesterday of interest maturities on civic debentures amounting to $133,000 in New York and $17,000 in London. Acting treasurer Walter Wardlaw stated that the New York payments were made from United States funds, but the London payments were made from the city's own funds. He declared, however, that the city had gained by avoiding the high interest rates that would have been paid at the end of the month. Payments were provided for during the month, he said, and the city had gained by avoiding the high interest rates that would have been paid at the end of the month.

Shipping, China, Feb. 2.—An official statement today said Chinese volunteers had launched new attacks yesterday forenoon and evening on Japanese troops holding Suichang and Chinkow, on the southeastern border of Jehol Province.
The Chinese were reported to have used airplanes and artillery fire, with other casualties.
Another attack was centred on the city in the Great Wall of China, which the Japanese occupied early in January.

CO-OPERATIVE
TEST VOTE SOONIn Commons Woodworth
Moves Resolution For Great
Economic ChangeSupported By Miss Agnes MacPhail And Others of
C.C.F. Group

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 2.—The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Canada's newest political party, held the stage in the Commons yesterday afternoon. James S. Woodworth, Labor member for Winnipeg North Centre, moved the following resolution:
"Whereas, under our present economic arrangement large numbers of our people are unemployed and without the means of earning a livelihood for themselves and their dependents.
"And whereas, the prevalence of the present depression throughout the world indicates fundamental defects in the existing economic system.
"Therefore, be it resolved that, in the opinion of this house, the government should immediately take measures looking to the setting up of a co-operative commonwealth in which all natural resources and the socially necessary machinery of production will be used in the interests of the people and not for the benefit of the few."
As president of the federation Mr. Woodworth explained its aims.
Mr. Woodworth said he had introduced the same resolution a year ago, but then there was no large organized body of public opinion behind it. Since then the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation had been organized.
"What would happen to the constitution of this country if you achieved your aims?" asked Premier Bennett.
"The constitution would remain as it is," said Mr. Woodworth.
Mr. Bennett said that was impossible and Mr. Woodworth replied that was something for the Prime Minister to explain.

FLEXIBLE PLAN
"The federation does not advocate a bureaucratic state socialism," said Mr. Woodworth. "It realizes some matters must be dealt with by the state, while others may well be left to voluntary co-operative effort."
"IRON HEEL" SPEECH
In a recent speech in Toronto, the Labor leader said, Premier Bennett had charged the federation with advocating a "government, soviet in character."

Mr. Woodworth accused Bennett of libel and sedition when he advised the Toronto audience to put the "iron heel of ruthlessness" on the federation's activities, which the Prime Minister said was communistic. It was "setting one class against another," said the speaker.

NO MOSCOW LINK
The Co-operative Federation "has no connection with Moscow, none whatever," despite the Prime Minister's statement, declared Mr. Woodworth, who dared any member who entertained contrary views to take the floor. So far the Prime Minister "with the whole secret service behind him" had failed to prove any connection.
The Commonwealth Party advocated a changed social system through peaceful, orderly methods, explained its leader.
"With a little force, perhaps," suggested a Conservative.
"It may be," admitted Mr. Woodworth, "that force may grow inevitable if the attitude of certain gentlemen is persisted in and the people denied the right of self-expression and a decent livelihood."
QUESTION ABOUT BENNETT
In the midst of his detailed explanation of the aims and policies of the new party, the Winnipeg Laborite asked: "Does any one believe the great fortunes of this country have been built through honest toil? Has the whole of the Prime Minister's fortune been gained through honest toil?"
Speaker George Black, while Co-operative members shouted derisive remarks at the slender, bearded Winnipeg member, called for retraction.
Points of order were heard above the din.
The speaker insisted on the words being recalled and at one time Mr. Woodworth threatened to appeal from the ruling and divide the House on the Speaker's judgment.

"Withdraw! Withdraw!" chorused the Conservatives while the Speaker and the Labor leader sparred over the point. "I would dislike to name the honorable member, but I propose doing so if he does not conform to the rules of debate," threatened the Speaker.

Confronted with possible expulsion, Mr. Woodworth withdrew "any imputation on the Prime Minister's money dishonesty."
MISS MACPAIL SPEAKS
On his resolution, Mr. Woodworth was supported by Miss Agnes MacPhail, U.P. member for Southeast Grey, Ont., and one of his chief lieutenants in the Commonwealth Federation. George G. Coote, United Farmer of Alberta, member for Macleod, and A. A. Heaps, Labor, Winnipeg North.

Resentment at "scurrilous attacks" directed by speakers and in the press against leaders of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation movement was expressed by Miss MacPhail, who, she said, had been particularly stung by Premier Bennett and the Conservatives. She thanked Premier Bennett and the Conservatives particularly for their assistance. "Had it not been for government action, we would have been a long time ago," she said.
While the organization derived its first impulse from Farmer and Labor groups, Miss MacPhail said its ranks were being steadily augmented by business and professional men. These people were no longer secure in their livelihood and many of them were among the unemployed.
Miss MacPhail reviewed some of the problems of the present, and the causes, and referred particularly to the "power of the purse" and the "power of the pen" in the hands of a few. She said the necessary step to be taken would be to increase the purchasing power of those who had lost it and to curtail the purchasing power of those who had more than they needed, she said.
The speeches of Mr. Woodworth and the others gave the cue to a series of speakers from the Farmer and Labor group who continued to-day to demand a change in the economic system.

PLANS STATED
BY DE VALERACosgrave Says It Is Plain Ireland's Economic Warfare
Is to Continue

Canadian Press
Dublin, Feb. 2.—"The loath of allegiance (to the Crown) will disappear from the constitution within the next three months," President Eamon de Valera asserted yesterday evening. And while the Republican President intimated the Free State was ready to resume negotiations with the United Kingdom under certain conditions—looking to an end of the economic warfare, his chief opponent, former President William T. Cosgrave, said it was plain the economic warfare would continue.
In exclusive statements to the Canadian Press yesterday evening, both President de Valera and Mr. Cosgrave gave outlines of what they are looking to as a result of the repudiation of the voters last week upholding the year-old Republican Government.
Mr. de Valera was asked regarding the likelihood of reopening the Anglo-Irish negotiations.
"JUST SETTLEMENT"
"The British Ministers," he replied, "are aware of our desire for a just settlement of the financial dispute. We are ready to require discussion when they are prepared to negotiate seriously. I cannot estimate the probability of the reopening of negotiations."
Mr. de Valera revealed the Republican Government's attitude toward the question of union between Ulster and the Free State—a move strongly repudiated by Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland, to crop up, sooner or later in Anglo-Irish discussions, and he expects the Republican Government to hold office for five years.
"We propose to abolish the Senate in its present form and replace it with a smaller and less expensive second chamber, representing economic interests," said the president.

GIVE-AND-TAKE
DEBT DEBATEU.S. Senators Look For Concessions From Britain If Settlement Revised

Washington, Feb. 2.—The disposition in many Washington quarters to-day was to regard the news that the Chamberlain cabinet had accepted a statement as the view of one cabinet member and not definitely indicative of the final position the British government will assume in the forthcoming discussion.
This opinion was backed by a general calling of attention to the stand taken by President Roosevelt in his message in expressing a willingness to hear the pleas of debtor nations and the recent conference between Mr. Roosevelt and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador.

TO MAKE REPORT
Sir Ronald now is en route to London with a full outline of the incoming President's thoughts on the subject and he will place them before the Chamberlain cabinet early next week. What Sir Ronald has to say will likely carry the greatest weight in formulating Great Britain's policy.
Mr. Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told United States correspondents in London yesterday that Britain did not regard the debt talks in March as a "great wrapping deal." He said the "conception of concessions by Great Britain in return for the scaling down of war debts is not a British conception."

Long after the senate leaders here said Britain could not expect debt adjustments without giving compensations.
LONDON OPINION
London, Feb. 2.—The London Daily Mail said editorially to-day that Sir Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had done well to set forth plainly for United States correspondents yesterday the British government's policy in the coming debt negotiations at Washington.

"He stated emphatically," said The Mail, "that our representatives do not intend to discuss the war debts in connection with the scaling down of the war debts. He deprecated any idea of bargaining on the questions which will be discussed. Our case is, after all, simple. It is that any proposed continuance of the huge one-way payments involved in these inter-governmental war debts is impossible."
Mr. Chamberlain yesterday was emphatic that there should be no "great wrapping deal" at Washington, but he also said "both parties are interested in questions which will come up simultaneously with discussion of the war debts, and an agreement might be reached to their mutual advantage."

POLICE CHIEF'S
SALARY IS CUT

Vancouver, Feb. 2.—The Vancouver board of police commissioners, meeting in camera yesterday evening, lopped $2,250 off Police Chief C. E. Edgett's salary, leaving him with a budget of $732,341, nearly $800,000 below the 1932 budget. The chief's salary has been $7,500 less 10 per cent. This will bring his salary down to $4,500.

The budget as submitted to the commission by Chief Edgett was $53,543.95 below that of last year. At the end of the commissioners' deliberations they had made a further cut of $5,850, of which $2,250 was on the chief's salary and $3,600 on the clothing allowance to plain clothes officers. Each officer had his allowance for clothing cut from $150 per year to $100.
At the close of the meeting a statement was made to the press by Frank Amor, commission secretary.
Mayor L. D. Taylor told newspapermen the matter of Chief Edgett's dismissal had not been discussed. He also stated there had been no discussion of a cut in salary for the general force, though if the city council should decide on another general cut in salaries the police force would have to take its share as any other branch of the service.
Col. Edgett would also be required to take any additional cut, which might be made by the city council, it was stated.

Robber Tells Man

Associated Press
Minneapolis, Feb. 2.—Alfred Herman does not particularly like lectures, but he paid $150 for one the other night, and was told it might cost him still more.
Two bandits held him up in his grocery. As they were leaving, one of the bandits turned and asked: "Have you got any holdup insurance?"
"Well, I haven't," Herman replied.
"Well," he was told, "you ought to get some. It's a good thing to have. You'd better get some soon, because we'll be coming back."

POST OFFICE
FUNDS CUTEstimates For Year, Now Before Commons, $30,619,-
375 For Outside Service

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—In the main estimates for the fiscal year 1933-34, tabled in the Commons yesterday, the sum asked for the post office outside service is $30,619,375, as compared with $31,742,100, or a decrease of $1,122,725 from last session's main estimates.
The Department of Trade and Commerce estimates show a cut of $186,562 from last session's main appropriation. The sum of $4,997,330 is asked for to run this department during the coming fiscal year.

FOR FISHERIES WORK
For the Department of Fisheries, the sum of $1,444,000 is asked. In comparison with last session's appropriation this shows a decrease of $116,756. There is a cut of $21,500 in the appropriation for the Department of Mines from last session's figures. The total amount asked for the coming fiscal year is $250,900. The geological survey appropriation is down $12,250 from last session's main estimates, as compared with last year's main estimates and the total appropriation is now $229,000.
The sum of $1,397,500 is asked to vote for the Department of Labor for the next fiscal year is $136,500, or $66,500 less than last year's main estimates.
Appropriation for the Department of Indian Affairs, which is placed at $4,175,850, constitutes an increase of $81,750 from the figure of $4,094,100 in last session's main estimates.
FUNDS FOR R.C.M.P.
The cost of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for the coming fiscal year is estimated at $5,615,595, or an increase of $45,776 over the 1932-33 total in the main estimates.
It is planned to spend $358,616 less under the head of Dominion lands and parks, the total vote for the coming fiscal year being placed at $1,632,775. For the administration of the Department of Pensions and National Health, the total appropriation for the coming fiscal year in the main estimates is $11,397,500. This is a decrease of $24,783.
The total amount asked for the Department of National Revenue is $10,404,264, a decrease of $31,791 from the main estimate brought down at the last session.

Whittling down of expenditures is shown for every department of the government. With economy as the watchword, the cuts are the result of much burning of the midnight oil. Legislators—ministers, members and senators—with civil servants will continue their reduced salaries.
The 10 per cent cut will remain for another year, but rumors around the corridors that there might be a further decrease are stated to be without any foundation.
No new avenues of expenditure appear in the main estimates.

South African Cattle
Barred From Britain

Capetown, S.A. Feb. 2.—Owing to the severe outbreak of foot and mouth disease in South Africa the British Government to-day banned imports from the Union of South Africa and Bechuanaland of livestock, live pigs, hay, lucerne, fodder and lucerne meal, cattle disease, which broke out more than a month ago, has spread rapidly.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS
OF CONSTIPATIONGet Relief With Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, shallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.
Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.
The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.
Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

U.S. SILVER PARTY
ADDS STRENGTH

Washington, Feb. 2.—Silver inflationists to-day added to their ranks a new ally, one who may be speaker of the next United States House of Representatives.
As the House coinage committee resumed its hearings on various bills to re-monetize silver, Henry Rainey, of Illinois, now Democratic leader and a candidate for the speakership, said to newspapermen:
"If we've got to have some kind of inflation—and it seems inevitable we will have in the new Congress—silver will be the best way to do it. Expansion through the purchase of silver and the issuance of silver certificates can be controlled."
Rainey said if he were elected speaker he would not only be "delighted" to help silver inflationists get a vote on their plan, but would "vote with them."

AGED BANK HEAD

Chambers, Neb., Feb. 2.—Old age may be creeping up on seventy-year-old Edward Adams, president of the Chambers State Bank, but he does not act that way.
A young man armed with a pistol snatched the bank and announced robbery was about to be committed.
"I hate," he said, "to shoot an old man, but I guess I'll have to," when Adams was slow in raising his hands. Instead of getting shot, the aged man let one fist fly. It connected with such force that the intruder was stunned. Two of Adams' sons then

New Construction
In Canada Listed

Toronto, Feb. 2.—During January, throughout all Canada, according to MacLean Building Reports Limited, summary of construction contracts awarded, new work of all types awarded or started during the month, totaled only $3,362,400. This is the lowest monthly total since January 1919, when it sagged below the $3,000,000 mark.
For the same period, $9,668,550 worth of buildings and engineering work was reported upon for the first time. This amount, planned for procedure this year, came to light in January, the proposals with mature and contracts be let later on.
LARGE AWARDS IN JANUARY
Construction contracts awarded in Canada during January, where the value of the work undertaken exceeded $50,000, were as follows:

STILL ANOTHER REICHSTAG ELECTION IN GERMANY

On March 5 the voters of Germany will go to the polls again and elect a new Reichstag—the third in less than twelve months. Another election became necessary when Chancellor Hitler failed to get the support of the Catholic Centre and the Bavarian People's Party. These two elements commanded eighty-eight votes in the House, which gave them the balance of power, while 121 Social Democrats and 100 Communists constituted the rest of the major opposition following. There were 582 seats in all, and even if the government could have counted on the support of all the other parties, its voting strength would not have exceeded 273 compared with 309 opposition votes.

Hitler naturally welcomes the chance of appealing to the people as Chancellor and he thinks his prospects of obtaining a working majority now have been greatly enhanced, more especially so in view of the fact that his party scored substantial gains at the expense of the Nationalists in the recent Lippe state elections. His proclamation to the German people last night contained the announcement that he intends to launch what he terms two four-year plans to effect the salvation of farmers and workers. The idea of compulsory labor service and farm colonies constitutes the "main pillars" of his programme, and he says it will represent "a colossal and comprehensive attack on unemployment."

Those who look for radical departures under Hitler's Chancellorship, however, should bear in mind that the majority of his cabinet are Nationalists and will insist that he keep within bounds. But, nevertheless, he will bring to his task new ideas and it will be for the country to decide upon their merits. His bitterest opponents are the Communists, while the Social Democrats—the real Liberals of Germany—can be counted as definitely hostile to many of his political doctrines. Between now and March 5, therefore, lively doings will be reported from Germany.

From Berlin to-day comes the report that orders have been issued to the police to prevent Communist demonstrations during the election campaign. What effect this is likely to have upon a party which held one-sixth of the seats in the last Reichstag is not difficult to imagine. Every day sees shootings and stabbings as Nazis and Communists clash. These are not likely to diminish if the Chancellor pursues high-handed methods.

While all the makings of civil war have existed in Germany for some months, the danger of an open outbreak undoubtedly has been increased by the elevation of Hitler to the Chancellorship. For the moment, however, the moderate elements are still in the majority; they will tolerate domination neither by the extreme Right, by whom Hitler now has been virtually embraced, nor by the extreme Left as represented by the Communists. At least one-third of the last Reichstag was controlled by men of the Brüning outlook. The responsibility of office may curb Hitler's chauvinism. If this does not happen Germany is going to have very bad times.

In any case, what stands out clearly is the determination of the majority of the German people to defend the Republic against the machinations of the Junkers. Any attempt to destroy the Constitution of Weimar would produce revolution and chaos.

TARIFF BOARD TO BE APPOINTED AT LAST

From Ottawa comes the news that by the end of the week Canada may have a Tariff Board for the first time in three years. The former body was abolished soon after the present administration took office.

Apart from the fact that Canada agreed to appoint a Tariff Board under the provisions of the agreement into which this country and Great Britain entered at the Ottawa conference, the existence of such a body is part and parcel of Dominion policy. But a very large number of Canadians will naturally ask themselves what purpose is to be served by appointing a Tariff Board at this stage, at a substantial cost to the taxpayers, after Mr. Bennett has increased customs duties all along the line. Since he assumed office he has constituted himself the Tariff Board.

It has been known for some time that the Prime Minister has had considerable difficulty in finding men to serve as tariff advisers. It is small wonder, because it is hardly likely that he will select men who disagree with his own views on this subject, men who recognize that most of the world's economic ills have been aggravated by the economic nationalism which is thriving in practically every country.

To be of any service to Canada a tariff body must have no political conscience of any description. It must turn deaf ears to the special pleaders, whether they be manufacturers or farmers, and deal only with fundamentals. Unless the Prime Minister shall select men of this kind and agree to follow their advice, the country will be merely paying another heavy salary bill for the privilege of having the government's fiscal policies endorsed by another branch of the public service.

It is foolish to suggest that Canada can lead the world out of the tariff wilderness on her own. It is within her power, however, to give some sort of direction to other countries by pursuing a constructive policy.

PLAIN TALK ABOUT ANTI-C.N.R. PROPAGANDA

"The whole policy since the government took office seems to be surely inspired by an ironical determination to hand over the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian National Steamships to the Canadian Pacific Company." Mr. Morgan Berg, president of the Canadian Association of Seamen, in an address in Vancouver.

The occasion of Mr. Berg's address was the report of an organizing tour and survey of seamen's conditions throughout the Dominion. He declared that the Ottawa government had been instrumental in throwing thousands of seamen out of work through "vicious determination to aid Canadian Pacific revenue at the cost of the workers of Canada."

Although concern for the seamen had been expressed by Premier Bennett and Hon. H. H. Stevens, said Mr. Berg, so far as his association was aware, "nothing has ever been done to get rid of one single Oriental or in any way help a single Canadian seaman." That the government, by "deadly propaganda," had poisoned the public mind against the Canadian National so that the railway might be thrown into the junk pile, was Mr. Berg's charge, while Parliament was induced to play ducks and drakes with the Canadian National fleet, with the result that "some perfectly splendid and entirely seaworthy freighters were practically thrown away." He then went on:

Three of these vessels, I understand, were presented to Japan as a gift, $12,000, and to-day we are reliably informed that these steamers are to be used in direct opposition to Canadian shipping.

Under the benign influence of the government, the three magnificent passenger liners are all tied up to rot at various docks, in order that they also may in no way conflict with the revenue of the Canadian Pacific. And now we learn that the Prince David and the Prince Henry may be sold to French shipping interests.

By all those moves, for which the government should be impeached if justice were done to them, they have been definitely instrumental in throwing out of employment thousands of seamen and their families, hundreds of whom are actually on relief in this province to-day and all this brought about by the vicious determination to aid Canadian Pacific revenue at the cost of the workers of Canada.

These are very strong statements and some reply to them ought to be forthcoming from the government. Although Premier Bennett is on record as declaring himself against amalgamation in his famous "Amalgamation never, competition ever" slogan, his speeches in which he has dealt with the cost of government have been made the vehicle to convey to the public that much of that cost is due to expenditures on the Canadian National Railways. The suspicion exists that this is part of the propaganda which has been disseminated in recent months.

Were this issue to be submitted to the Canadian people, neither in the Maritime Provinces, in Ontario, nor in the four western provinces would the amalgamationists get any support worth considering. Even if the Canadian Senate favored the merger, the House of Commons would defeat the proposal, for few Conservative members would be ready to place their political heads on the block in defence of it, and now the Liberal party has come out definitely opposed to amalgamation there is very little chance of the scheme going through.

It is pertinent to suggest, too, that if the traffic executives of the two systems would get together, they would soon be able to evolve some scheme which would curtail the expenses of both systems without impairing the efficiency of either. If they are unable to do this, how can it be seriously argued that either would be capable of administering the affairs of an amalgamated organization?

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer in Britain's National Government, says: "Isolation is a thing of the past. If we are to live we must exchange one another's produce. Artificial trade barriers must be removed." While the Chancellor said this he declared himself a protectionist. Mr. Chamberlain, the son of the father of Britain's tariff policy which is getting its first innings by virtue of a huge Conservative majority in the House of Commons, should have said that isolation ought to be a thing of the past. He is a member of a government which joined the tariff procession after financial and economic experts in many lands had warned the world of the folly in which it was indulging. Has Mr. Chamberlain seen a new light shining in the dwindling trade figures of his country?

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WASHINGTON AND RUSSIA
 Steele in The Christian Science Monitor.

Washington observers predict American recognition of Soviet Russia during the Roosevelt administration. While the House could only advise the Senate and the President, its influence is strong and is now believed to favor recognition for revenue reasons. The Republicans were committed to non-recognition, the Democrats are not. Progressive groups follow Senator Borah, who is favorable. Even Representative Hamilton Fish, arch foe of Communism, is willing to see relations established—he believes propaganda could then be more readily controlled.

TREES ARE PRIVATE PROPERTY
 The Brockville Recorder

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that trees growing in the country are not public property but belong to the owners of the land upon which they are growing. Two Guelph men recently discovered that to their sorrow when they were convicted in police court of having cut or damaged no fewer than sixty-five trees belonging to a nearby farmer and were sentenced to serve fifteen days in jail. The owner of the trees did not want to see the men imprisoned, but the Crown Attorney said that there was trouble of the same description every year and an example should be made. The agreeable magistrate thereupon remarked: "There seems to be a widespread idea that trees growing in the country are everybody's property. People must realize that they are owned by the farmer who grows them, and to take them is theft."

NOT BOTH WAYS

SCHOOL TEACHERS of British Columbia don't see why they should be singled out as one class in the community for salary reductions about twice as heavy as those of other public servants. Their objections are natural and human enough, but will receive scant consideration in a world which is interested chiefly in the subject, "When do we eat?" and doesn't see why its children shouldn't be as ignorant as it is. But the general policy of reducing everybody's income, as inaugurated by governments and generally followed while natural in one way is curious when it is put beside the other governmental policies of Canada. That is to say, if this nation were trying to trade with other nations and depended on foreign trade, reductions in wages all along the line to make our goods compete in world markets, would be expected and would cause no hardship, since prices would all go down proportionately. But, as our whole fiscal policy is to admit no foreign goods so that our industries may sell at home at the highest price possible, why, then, the programme of cutting down people's spending power on a national basis is lunacy of the purest sort. What we are trying rather pathetically to do is to have our cake and eat it. We are trying to get our goods into foreign markets by cutting wages and cost of production here, and yet retain the home market for our industries at its maximum purchasing power. And we are doing neither.

THIS IDEA, generally current, is found to be wrong for two reasons. The United States Department of Commerce has prepared figures, according to The New Republic, which show that divided payments and interest on bonds during 1932 were actually greater than in 1928 and only about seven per cent smaller than in the peak year of 1929. Wages and salaries in 1932, however, were only about half the 1929 figure. And recently, though Mr. Teagle probably hasn't found this out, a fifty per cent cut in a large income does not cause a man to suffer as much as a five per cent cut in a small one. Just as a fifty per cent tax on incomes over, say $20,000 does not hurt the taxpayer as much as Mr. Jones's one per cent tax on an income of $1,200.

PREMATURE BURIAL

THREE INTERESTING communications, which I have received lately, should be acknowledged in the hope that the writers may come again. One of them is from a gentleman who wrote a poem last November about my timid mushroom picking, which I recorded at that time. It is a touching obituary to me, written on the assumption that I finally did make a mistake and pick toadstools. Unfortunately for the cause of Poetry, however, I didn't, and the gentleman's attempt at premature burial was quite wasted. I mean, it rather spoils the obituary when the subject of it persists in remaining alive.

A THIRD FELLOW writes me a dangerous letter recording his adventures in the war and the fact that he has been out of work for a long time and never has all he wants to eat; and he seems to be annoyed because a grateful country can't give a war veteran a job but a certain gentleman whom he names has half a million dollars in Victory bonds, floated to win the war, and they are all free of taxes. I can understand such gratitude. I mean, this war veteran ought to be grateful that there are men like this capitalist in the country who were willing to loan their money to the government during the war when he was merely loaning his life and future which, by the way, are not tax-free.

TWICE WRONG

BEARING REMOTELY on this subject is a letter by Mr. Walter Teagle (who, I believe, is a leading industrialist and financier) in The New York Times, Mr. Teagle argues that the plain people have not suffered in the Depression more than capital has. The value of securities has "undergone tremendous depreciation. Dividends generally have been greatly reduced or entirely omitted. . . . By and large, the working class, though with a large margin to spare, has not suffered disproportionately with those having incomes and capital."

THIS IDEA, generally current, is found to be wrong for two reasons. The United States Department of Commerce has prepared figures, according to The New Republic, which show that divided payments and interest on bonds during 1932 were actually greater than in 1928 and only about seven per cent smaller than in the peak year of 1929. Wages and salaries in 1932, however, were only about half the 1929 figure. Just as a fifty per cent tax on incomes over, say $20,000 does not hurt the taxpayer as much as Mr. Jones's one per cent tax on an income of $1,200.

THIS IS NOT to say that large incomes are undesirable or a menace to society. On that point the utmost confusion prevails both on the part of capitalists and communists. A large income, if it is spent on goods and services, is a valuable asset to the community. A man who gets $50,000 a year and spends every cent of it immediately on services and goods, on servants, automobiles, golf sticks and blondes, contributes as much towards the prosperity of his community as ten fellows getting $5,000. He could have a monument to him. There wouldn't be many monuments for the fundamental trouble in the whole situation is that the man with the big income usually doesn't spend all or anything like all his money on consumer goods. He puts a large share of it, though, into investment, into the production of more goods instead of the consumption of more goods. He builds more factories, more machines, and presently production has outstripped consumption and there you are, and, of course, as things get worse, he and everybody else puts more and more money into sterile investment for more safety, with the result that safety gets less and less. This process is known to various economists, according to their views, as rugged individualism, the law of supply and demand, the wealth of nations and the best joke in history.

STUBBORN CREATURE
 STILL, DESPITE all these last-minute obstacles, despite all the laws of economics, despite everything that the column can do, people still go on living, still go on planning, still go on expecting, still go on laughing. It's an odd way they have. On our road is an old man, by his looks well over seventy-five. He lives on the corner and I pass him several times a day. Three years ago he built a little house and cleared away enough of the forest for a garden. Since then he has done nothing, so far as I can see, but clear a little more land every month, add a few more square yards to his vegetable garden, or his patch of lawn and flowers. Early in the morning and in the evening you will see him hewing away with axe and mattock.

TO THE EDITOR—I read the account of an interview with Mr. Cohen of the famous Vancouver Corporation and am wondering why, when you know that a movie industry was incorporated in this city only a few days ago, you give front-page prominence to the big type to a story, to put it mildly, is not out to further any movie concern here, but he and his friends would oppose tooth and nail any project sponsored here. You might as well expect the Vancouver papers to have big headlines stating what a beautiful climate we have in Victoria, what lovely scenery we have, and what a desirable spot Victoria is to live in. Mr. Cohen's horizon is quite limited when he states that the paucity of population in Canada and the extreme depression of business makes it inadvisable to start such a scheme here at present. Let me tell Mr. Cohen that some wide-awake cities in Canada would give their eyes to have a studio started there to-morrow. It is one way of ending the depression. The movie industry reminds me of a child in his nursery who, looking up at the ceiling, says to his nurse, "Say, say." There is a wide world beyond the nursery ceiling, and if Canada has a small population, there are other countries like Great Britain and the United States where good movie studios will be accepted.

building brush bonfires, digging the soil. FINALLY HE HAS cleared enough space for a little orchard of about twenty trees, and this week he planted them. Tiny saplings they are, that will bear no fruit for about five years. By all the chances of nature he will never see them fruiting, but he is as enthusiastic about his orchard as if he were just starting life instead of finishing it. Pointing to a wilderness of brush, he told me to-day he hoped that by next fall he would have enough additional space cleared for half a dozen walnut trees, which, with luck, might bear walnuts in seven or eight years. Finally he plans to plant a row of sequoia trees down his fence line to break the north wind. Under favorable conditions they may begin to break the wind in about twenty years. What are you going to do with a man like that? What are you going to do with a race like that? You can't do anything. It will keep on going. It will keep on planting. It will keep on defying all the theories of economics, and the despair of governments. With a wicked stubbornness and persistence, it will just insist on surviving and enjoying life—and you can't stop it.

 Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Southerly and easterly winds, unsettled with rain.
 Officers for the coming year will be elected at the annual meeting of the James Bay Athletic Association to be held to-morrow evening in the club rooms.

The R.M.S. Empress of India arrived at the outer wharf at 11.45 last night. The India experienced some weather most of the way and made her run on a schedule time. The liner has 100 tons of general cargo for this port and twenty-five passengers.

The Fifth Regiment easily beat the Premier's quintette in the city senior basketball league, by a score of twenty-two points to eight. The combination of the Regiment and the good shooting of the forwards was mainly responsible for the high score. The latter was very even and the score of twelve to ten was a good criterion of the play.

The teams were as follows:
 R. Norman Guard Berkeley
 W. D. Stewart Guard Knapex
 P. Henry Centre Sellick

blood for your dishonored golden idol—it is met with a trade of abuse from those whose duty it once was and still should be, to mould public opinion. Is there one single moral claim, one economic truth on which capitalism can base its claim to supremacy. In peace it enslaves the people in its economic chains, forged from profit, sweat of the brow and mind of man. In war, it has no country, no soul, no conscience, selling its nefarious wares—the munitions of hell—to the highest bidder, profiting shamelessly in the spilt blood of friend and foe alike. Doctrine of honor! Doctrine of the devil! If we have learnt nothing else from tragic conditions of the present, surely must see by now that capitalism has reached the zenith of greed and selfishness, and that hypocrisy with which it clothe viciousness has at last bent its rage for all the world to see. doctrine of co-operation is the dog of humanity—an ever-flowing sea which neither capitalists nor can dam—even though they ally and every obstacle to their greed to stay its progress will swell the final overwhelming to T. GUY SHEPPA

"Economic Tracts For the Times" Is an Interesting Volume by G. D. H. Cole

E. V. Lucas's "Reminiscences" and J. Mantrapp's "Faith of a Christian" Received

New books added to the lists of the Victoria Public Library this week include:

NON-FICTION

"Reading, Writing and Remembering" by E. V. Lucas, is a book of reminiscences, enlivened by frequent quotations and illustrations from forgotten and forgotten volumes. In this book, Mr. Lucas looks back over his years of writing and describes the circumstances that have affected his literary life and the people who have influenced his work. It is an author's record, not a full biography.

"International Enquiry into Costs of Living" is a detailed study of living costs in fourteen industrial cities of Europe. It is an attempt to formulate a standard of living appropriate to the conditions of each country. It is most readable and is especially intended for those who want to know something more about the way in which money is spent.

"Economic History of Soviet Russia," by Lancelot Lawton, gives an account of the economic state of Russia before and after the revolution. The author's conclusions are not more widespread than those which prevail concerning Russia. The author has striven to give both sides of the story, and to write a book readable to all who are interested in modern economic questions.

"Rafael, Cardinal Merry de Val," by F. A. L. Poole, is a character sketch inspired by deep admiration. Irish and Spanish by birth, English by birth and tradition, Cardinal Merry de Val was the intimate friend of Pope Pius XI, and his secretary of state during a critical period of Catholic history.

"Dorothy M. Richardson," by John Cowper Powys, is an essay about a woman, and an appreciation of her work. Richardson's life and works and her contribution to literature.

"Dangerous Drugs," by Arthur Woods, is a discussion of the various narcotics, the effect of the drug addict on society, the measures that have been employed to control the narcotic traffic, a description of the present state of the traffic and suggestions as to measures to be employed to cope with the situation.

"Sir Walter Scott," by H. J. C. Grierson and Davidson Cook, is a book of retrospective essays and studies. An interesting chapter is devoted to the historical novel since Sir Walter Scott.

"Good Things in England," by Florence White, is a book of real English cookery. This book contains traditional and regional recipes suited to modern tastes and contributed by English men and women between 1299 and 1932. The editor, Miss White, has plenty of wit and unfeigned things to say about more familiar matters, making tea, jam or pastry, roasting and juggling, poaching eggs or curing hams.

"Story of General Dyer," by Ian Colvin, is a brilliantly written biography in defence of General Dyer's action in India, and will strengthen the widely held opinion that the shooting alone averted a dangerous uprising and that General Dyer was unjustly condemned. This book will be read with special interest by all those who are interested in the welfare of India.

"Sir Bertram Windle," by Monica Taylor, is a memoir of a great scientist and a saintly man, a faithful son of the Roman Catholic Church, who was a Fellow of the Royal Society, and played a leading part in the creation of Birmingham University and the National University of Ireland. The subject of this biography is also well known in the world of education.

"The Fourth Gospel," by Wilbert Howard, gives an epitome of the views as to its authorship held by the foremost scholars of all countries. This historical survey is followed by a critical investigation of the chief questions involved and of the problems of interpretation. The author states his own conclusions in a way that is interesting and invaluable.

"Puss in Boots," edited by Michael Joseph and Elizabeth Drew, is a collection of stories about cats. In this collection are stories by such varied authors as Rose Fyleman, Dr. M. R. James, Gottfried Keller, Compton Mackenzie, E. Nesbit, Colburn Mayne, Elinor Mordaunt, Charles Perrault, Mark Twain, Carl van Vechten and many others. This anthology is a real treat for cat lovers.

"Finance and Politics," by Paul Eltiss, describes the destructive effect of the use of France's financial power for political purposes. Professor Howard states, however, that the French financial dictatorship is drawing near its end, owing to the aggravation of the crisis in France, and to the increasing financial recovery in Great Britain.

"Finance of Government," by Hille and Fellows, is a comprehensive and up-to-date volume. Part I comprises the principles of taxation and the collection of taxes, the revenue obtained from duties, the work of the Paymaster-General in England, the working of the treasury, audit and balance. Part II deals with the currency system, while Part III is devoted to the national debt of Great Britain, floating debt, conversion and repayment. So far from being a dry book, it is most readable and is especially intended for those who want to know something more about the way in which money is spent.

"Economic History of Soviet Russia," by Lancelot Lawton, gives an account of the economic state of Russia before and after the revolution. The author's conclusions are not more widespread than those which prevail concerning Russia. The author has striven to give both sides of the story, and to write a book readable to all who are interested in modern economic questions.

Vacant Land Plans To Be Discussed

The Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening appointed Charles Chivers and R. W. Robins as delegates to a conference with the land committee of the City Council and the Real Estate Board on the subject of vacant lots.

Proposals for using vacant lots now owned by the city for productive purposes have been advanced on several occasions and an attempt will be made to devise some programme in this regard. The meeting is set for February 9, at 8 o'clock.

DOGS POISONED

Hackensack, N.J., Feb. 2. (Associated Press)—Fourteen dachshunds, valued at $5,500, two of them world champions, owned by Mrs. J. T. O'Donoghue, New York Society woman, yesterday were found poisoned to death at the Dachshund Kennels.

UNIVERSITIES GROW

Ottawa, Feb. 2 (Canadian Press)—Hard times have increased rather than diminished attendance at Canadian universities, Rev. Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, told the Association of Dominion Land Surveyors at a luncheon in connection with their annual meeting here to-day. Before the year was out, he said, registration at the University of Toronto would be well over 5,000.

Pain and Bloating Feeling

Keewatin, Ont. — "My husband had been a sufferer from indigestion for the past few years and tried several well-known remedies, but got very little relief," said Mrs. W. J. Parson. "Life was becoming unbearable for him with the pain and bloating feeling he experienced. Upon taking the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he is 100% better and all trace of indigestion is gone. He feels like a new man, is gaining weight and eats all kinds of food." Sold by druggists.

INCOME TAXES DUE IN MONTH

Cheques Must Accompany Returns Under New Provincial Plan

Under a new plan of collecting income taxes for the province, cheques for at least a part of the tax payable must accompany the returns made by taxpayers. The returns must be filed with the collector by February 28, one month earlier than usual, it was announced by Hon. J. W. Jones.

The new collection scheme, which enables the government to receive the taxpayers' money much sooner than before, is similar to the procedure in the case of the Dominion income tax, where a cheque must accompany the return.

This applies, of course, only to incomes where a tax is payable in excess of the one per cent already deducted from wage payments. Where such is due, either the full amount or not less than one-quarter must accompany the return, and the balance paid in three quarterly instalments on or before May 31, August 31 and November 30, with interest at 6 per cent from February 28.

The penalty for failure to file the return within the specified time is a maximum of $500.

Business returns will be filed as usual by March 31.

CUPID MAY FOIL IMMIGRATION OFFICERS

That troubled look Raquel Torres registers here is all about passports and immigration restrictions. A Mexican, the brunette movie star is one of several foreign film players who stays in the United States are the subject of investigation by federal operatives. But Hollywood thinks Miss Torres won't be asked to leave. The rumorists say she might become a U.S. citizen if her rumored marriage to Charles Feldman, theatrical agent, materializes.

CLUBWOMEN TO HEAR JURIST

Mr. Justice W. M. Martin of Regina, member of the Court of Appeal of Saskatchewan, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club to be held in the Empress Hotel on Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. His subject will be "Canada in International Affairs." Mrs. Harry Lazenby will be the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. H. C. Fraser. Mr. Justice Martin is a most able and popular speaker, and his address promises to be one of the most interesting of the Club's agenda this year.

Reign of Terror Is Discussed By L'alliance Group

The fortnightly meeting of L'alliance Francaise was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. A. Stanier, 1540 Richmond Avenue, when in the course of the programme dealing with the French Revolution, the Reign of Terror was discussed. The last days and the execution of Louis XVI, as depicted by Lamartine was contributed by Mrs. A. S. Slayne, the character of Robespierre was analyzed by Mrs. Bladen, who gave contrasting opinions of a man whom all proved to be an inhuman monster. Anatole France being quoted largely in her summary.

Madame Vivonnet related some dramatic incidents in the career of Robespierre and his associations with Danton and Marat, and the tragic harvest of the guillotine. Mrs. Little spoke entertainingly of the first stage of Paris, Bailey; Miss Guiché dealt with the days following the execution of the king and Mrs. Alford reviewed from Carriere's "French Revolution" the character of Robespierre and the last days of Marie Antoinette. Mrs. H. M. Archibald spoke of Charlotte Corday, grand-daughter of Corneille, from whom she had inherited the ideal of self-sacrifice which prompted her to give up her life in what she believed to be a just cause. A general discussion was also greatly enjoyed.

Madame Archibald announced the next afternoon meeting to be held on February 15, when the Convention of 1793 will be considered. A lecture on Japan with beautiful lantern slides will be given by Madame Vivonnet in Victoria College on the evening of Friday, February 17. In the absence of Madame Archibald who is leaving for a holiday in California, Mrs. A. Stevens, assisted by Mrs. Little, will act as chairwoman of the afternoon sessions of L'alliance Francaise. A lecture by Comte Jean de Suzanne will be arranged at a date in the latter part of March.

His many Victoria friends will be interested to learn that Nelson Allen of this city has been chosen to play the role of the character in the production of "Iolanthe," which is to be staged by the U.B.C. Musical Society in the University Auditorium, February 16 to 18. He has appeared in musical success in previous Gilbert and Sullivan roles under variety auspices.

Dr. Robert Thomson of Winnipeg, former Minister of Education for Manitoba, who has been the guest of his niece, Mrs. D. K. Kennedy, 1034 Linden Avenue, for the last two months, left yesterday for California, where he will spend several weeks before returning to Victoria for the balance of the winter.

Brig.-Gen. J. S. Dunbar and Mrs. Dunbar of Victoria who have been visiting for the past few weeks in Quebec, the guests of their son, Lieutenant-Colonel J. P. B. Dunbar, C.E., district engineer officer of that city, and Mrs. Dunbar, left there a few days ago for home. They will spend some weeks before starting back to Victoria. While in Quebec, he was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Lieut.-Col. Herbert McGreevy, president of the Quebec Garrison Club, and other officers of the organization, to which he belonged when he was a resident of Quebec. The average age of the guests, the majority of whom he had not seen for more than twenty-five years, was sixty-five years.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron, "Roseboro," Moss Street, was hostess this afternoon at a reception given by the Victoria and Islands Branch Canadian Authors Association in honor of Dr. Will Durant, eminent lecturer, author and philosopher, who arrived in the city this afternoon and was met by R. J. Cromie, editor and proprietor of The Victoria Star.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron was assisted in receiving by Donald A. Fraser, president of the local branch Canadian Authors; Miss M. Eugenie Perry, vice-president, and Mrs. J. R. Angus, secretary. Mrs. Cameron was the guest of honor on behalf of the assembly, and Dr. Durant expressed his pleasure in being in Victoria and in meeting so many of the authors of the cause of letters. Mrs. Nellie L. McClung and Mrs. T. A. Rickard presided at the prettily appointed tea table which was centred with yellow daffodils.

Guests included: Mrs. J. A. Henderson and Mrs. Ebbes-Cannan, members of the executive, assisted in serving. Among the members and invited guests were: Dr. Will Durant, Mr. R. J. MISS DUMBLETON
Miss Dumbleton deservedly shared in the applause and the many lovely bouquets which greeted the other artists, her difficult and arduous task of accompanying the whole of the eighteen numbers being a triumph of skill and resourcefulness, coupled with that sympathy which calls for the subjugation of the pianist's personality to that of the soloist.

Her brilliant performance added immeasurably to the success of a most satisfying and interesting programme.

ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING TO-DAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Evans of Somenos. Were Married Sixty Years Ago

Special to The Times
Duncan, Feb. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. John N. Evans of Somenos are celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary to-day. They were married in Nortonville, California, February 2, 1873, came to Victoria on February 9 the same year, later moving to Maple Bay and then to their present home, where they have since resided. Six of their eight children are living, and they have twenty grandchildren, nineteen of whom reside in British Columbia, and thirteen great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hargin and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert entertained at a delightful party in honor of Miss Winnie Hargin and Allen Gilbert. Guests were the Misses Ann Clark, Mary Bone, Irene Mottishaw, Kathleen Young, Kathleen Bickmaster, Ruth Gilbert, and Messrs. Frank and Bert Garrison, V. and Ron Kip, Allen Gadsden and Ralph Gilbert.

When you are just on edge ... when you can't stand the children's noise ... when everything you do is a burden ... when you are irritable and blue ... try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. 98 out of 100 women report benefit.

It will give you just the extra energy you need. Life will seem worth living again. Don't endure another day without the help this medicine can give. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

HUNGER STRIKE

Associated Press
Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 2.—A "hunger strike" of more than 100 girl students at Sargent School of Boston University ended yesterday as insubordinately as it began.

The "strikers" marched into the dormitory dining-room for breakfast yesterday and apparently were well satisfied with the menu. No complaints were registered about the food which the previous night was credited with being the cause of the strike.

STARTLES HOLLYWOOD WITH MALE ATTIRE

Fashionable women will be wearing trousers soon if they follow the lead of Marlene Dietrich and other movie stars. Miss Dietrich, whose name in moviedom has been synonymous with shapely limbs, startled Hollywood a few weeks ago by appearing in men's sports clothes. Soon other Hollywoodians were appearing in masculine togs, less extreme than Marlene's to be sure. But no one was prepared for the shock Marlene gave Hollywood at a movie premiere the other night. She appeared in men's evening coat and trousers, a masculine overcoat and a soft-mannish hat. Here she is as she chatted with Maurice Chevalier. The reason for trousers? Women's clothes cost too much, Marlene says.

PARIS DECREES
GARBO CLOTHES

Mannish Styles Shown at Fashion Pageant; Feathers on Gowns Featured

Paris, Feb. 2 (by Adelaide Kerr, Associated Press Staff Writer (Associated Press)).—Greta Garbo clothes displayed by a mannequin who showed a startling resemblance to the Swedish actress, even to a long bob coiffure, were highlighted to-day in the style pageant as clothes for moderns in 1933.

A plain tailored grey wool coat designed with a square neck trimmed in green and a scarf belt was accompanied by a green felt mannish hat crushed down over the mannequin's eyes.

COSSACK HATS
An ensemble of beige wool flecked with brown and orange stripes, designed with a simple skirt and a three-quarters length cape, accompanied a brown wool Cossack hat crushed over ash blonde curls.

Cottons again were prominent in other collections, there being many beige cotton ensembles combining skirts with hip jackets or frocks with three-quarter length coats.

A collarless three-quarter length white ribbed cotton coat was displayed with a black crepe dress having attached a scarf lined with white satin for street wear.

FEATHERS ON GOWNS
Black and navy tulle tea-time frocks formed an outstanding note in afternoon styles. They generally were designed with fairly full skirts ten inches from the floor, very short puffed sleeves and white organdie neck touches.

A crepe evening gown in a new shade of pale blue called "lovedbird blue," and having a low back decollete outlined in blue kingfisher feathers, accompanied a brown velvet hip-length cape colored in brown and black feathers.

A full-length wrap of lovedbird blue velvet collared with matching blue coque feathers, while a black satin gown had a matching waist length jacket with short sleeves banded with pink feathers.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

CROUP USUALLY OCCURS AT NIGHT
The overweight child is as much in need of dietary attention as is the underweight one. In some way the child is receiving an excessive amount of food, and because he demands more food the fatness he gets, remedying this condition is not always easy. Mrs. V. C. McC. has a baby of six months who weighed nine and three-fourths pounds at birth and now weighs twenty-five pounds. The baby is fed on the four-hour schedule, eats cereals, vegetables, fruit pulp, orange juice, and gets one teaspoonful of cod liver oil daily.

WORRIED ABOUT TEETH
"When should she start getting teeth?" asks her mother. "Are babies generally sick with the coming of teeth? I would like your leaflet on difficult teething. How shall I wean her? I want to have this over by summer. How can I make her eat cereal? What conditions cause croup? Do all babies get it? Please answer these questions for me."

Because you were thoughtful enough to include a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your letter, I am mailing you leaflets on "Difficult Teething," "How to Wean the Baby," and "Feeding from Two to Twelve Months." With these you may get a very complete idea of how to deal with present feeding so as to correct excessive feeding. Are you entering strictly to a four-hour schedule? Do not force cereal, but offer it twice daily in small amounts, appetizingly prepared. Well-fed babies have no difficulty in teething.

Now for your last question. I am copying from Dr. Frederick Tisdall's book, called "The Home Care of the Infant and Child." In it he says:

"Croup is an acute catarrhal inflammation of the larynx. Sudden exposure to cold air is one of the most frequent causes, although it occasionally develops in the course of an ordinary cold. Toward evening the cough becomes dry and barking in character. The child has difficulty in getting his breath and is frightened. The appearance is most alarming, but the condition is rarely serious. For the treatment of the acute attack, steam inhalations are most valuable. A steam tent should be made by putting sheets over a crib in such a manner that three sides are closed and the fourth open. A kettle of boiling water should be placed on a flat electric toaster or plate on the floor, and covered with a cylinder of cardboard or newspaper to direct the steam into the tent. Care must be taken not to burn the child. Relief is usually obtained in a few minutes. The child may be left in the tent all night if necessary, but must be watched constantly during this time."

COLD COMPRESS
"A cold compress is usually helpful. This is made by wringing a napkin or piece of old linen out of cold water and folding it three or four layers thick. This is placed against the neck just under the jaw and is covered with a towel, thick woolen stocking or piece of oiled silk and changed every thirty minutes."

Croup which occurs in daytime and gets steadily worse should be regarded seriously, as it may really be diphtheria. Ordinary croup occurs almost invariably at night. Because of the possibility of diphtheria, every child with croup should be examined by a doctor.

"To-morrow," "Ricketts Responsible for Long-Delayed Teething."

PUPILS HEARD IN RECITAL

Violin and Piano Students of Semple Studio Present
Programme

The violin and piano recital by pupils of Mr. and Mrs. E. Semple held last evening in the New Thought Temple was of outstanding merit, many of the younger students displaying much promise. The selections chosen gave ample scope for a good display of technique and training, and some of the children showed deep appreciation of values and clever interpretation.

Mrs. Semple and Enid Fox, in Polka Elegante (Behr), opened the programme, which included little Joe Spencer, Dorothy Turner and Janet Morrison, Dick Holden and Jennie Andrews, Inez Fensler in piano numbers, Harry Simpson in a violin solo, Harry Richards and John Kennedy, violin solos; Onough Kennedy, violin, a violin trio by Elynn Anderson and Stuart Turner, violin, with Ursula Hills at the piano; James Wren, violin, and John Pepper in a violin and piano duet. Two ensemble numbers were delightfully played by: Violins, Linda Smith, Marion Halls, Nellie Rendell, Betty Harvey, Verline Lawson, Elynn Anderson, Onough Kennedy, Cliff Billingsley, Bert Ruffell, E. Holt, S. W. Turner, John Pepper, with Alisa Braidwood at the piano, and Ernest Semple conducting.

Ursula Hills and Mrs. E. Semple gave a piano duet, Fyffe Gibson, Marion Halls, Margaret Jones, Ursula Hills, Geraldine Percival, Alisa Braidwood, Stuart Turner, Elynn Anderson, Bert Ruffell and Linda Smith gave solo numbers; a violin quartet included Linda Smith, Marion Halls, Betty Harvey and John Pepper; Cliff Billingsley and Nellie Rendell gave violin solos. During the evening Mrs. Semple, Geraldine Percival, Marion Halls and Ursula Hills did valiant work as accompanists.

The audience was enthusiastic and both piano and violin pupils well merited the applause.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

How Can Ardent Pair Keep Romance After Marriage?—Downtrodden Husband Must Rid Himself of Grafting Relatives—Is Man of Sixty-Seven Too Old to Marry?

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to a very fine type of girl and we are very ardent in love with each other. What shall we do to keep our love as thrilling as it is now? How shall we avoid the pitfall of boredom? Never go out with the girls, she goes out with other boys, mainly because we do not want to. If we try to see each other too often, will it help to keep our love always ardent? ANXIOUS.

Answer—You can no more keep the glamour and the romance of young love than you can keep the mystery of the dawn from turning into the full day or a bird from unfolding into a full-blown dove. Nor can you perpetuate thrills and keep turning hot and cold over a thing that has happened to you a hundred times.

There is always a something different in a first time—a first time of sailing a new harbor, a first time of riding a car of your own, a first time of making a success and getting some recognition in the work you are doing. In love, a first kiss, that never comes again. It is a surprise, a revelation, a glimpse of undiscovered delights that makes our pulses leap and floods our life with the joy of expectancy. And experience never quite repeats itself, because ever after we know what to expect and that dulls a little of its magic.

So if you are asking how you can keep your love keyed up always to the sixth degree and be always in this hectic child and fever state, I can only say it can't be done. Nobody can live at that high-tension. Nobody can live on a constant diet of chocolate creams.

No man can remain a Fairy Prince to a woman after she is married to him. It is his duty to have a three-day stubble on his face and hear him roar when his collar button rolls under the bureau. Nor can any man cherish the illusion that his wife is an angel after he has seen her with cold cream on her face and her hair in curlers, and discovers that she has nerves and temper and is a person and has unreasonable feminine ways. Even kisses lose their flavor when they become a matter of daily habit and are not stolen.

But all of this has nothing to do with real love. Romance is just the fancy trappings in which love is wrapped up in the days of courtship. It isn't love itself, and a man and woman never know how much they really are for each other until they throw away all of this flubdub and see each other without illusion as they are.

If you and your sweetheart love each other, you needn't be afraid that time will make your affection less ardent. It is the husbands and wives who have married and striven and suffered and cried together and who have come to love each other's very faults, who have come to be so much a part of each other that they have no separate lives, who are the great lovers, not the foolgirls and boys who thrill at each other's touch.

Doubtless you can keep your love romantic longer by seeing little of each other, as you suggest, but affection that can't stand the test of familiarity is a poor, weak reed on which to lean. How about the long years of close daily association after you are married when you will have to see each other with all your beauty-aid-off and all your pretty tricks and manners laid aside; when you will have to bear with each other in sickness and comfort each other in misfortune? And you will be just a human man and woman whose love is strong enough to bear the strain or else break under it.

As for avoiding boredom, that's easy. Be sure that the one you marry is your own intellectual class and has the same tastes and interests and then deliberately about developing comradeship. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—Won't you please write something about parking relatives? I have been married twelve years and have a wife and six kiddies, and during that time I have had to support my wife's mother and her brother and sister. Finally the mother died and the daughter got married, so I drew a breath of relief as I was only left with the brother as a nonpaying guest. But the sister has separated from her husband and she is back on our necks. I salary is so small that I can't make both ends meet and we have to deny ourselves and the children many things that we need in order to support these le-bodied grafters. But my wife seems to think it all right. What shall I do? CAUGHT.

Answer—Well, I would suggest a good and thorough housecleaning. Sweep your parasitic in-laws out of the door with a strong warning to them not to come back. As long as you furnish them free board and lodging they will continue to drink up the baby's milk and let you toil to support them.

A lot of families seem to think that their in-laws are manna sent from heaven for their sustenance. As soon as they get married, not only her mother, but all her sisters and brothers feel that they have a perfect right to a free run of her house and the use of her husband's pocketbook and carry descend upon her for interminable visits, often in such numbers that the husband is crowded out of his own room and bed and has to almost hang himself on a nail when he retires at night.

Johnny comes and parks himself on sister when he gets tired of working and wants a good, long, comfortable rest. Janey settles herself in the guest room because it is more agreeable to let brother-in-law support her than it is to put up with the vagaries of a husband. And when father dies mother doesn't even think about going to live on one of her own sons. She settles herself on son-in-law as a matter of course.

Look about you and you will see that more men are working to support their wives' families than their own. But nobody can help the poor down-trodden husbands. They have to save themselves. As long as they will suffer one deadbeat relative just so long will the grafters continue to hold them up. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Is a man of sixty-seven too old to marry? Should he marry a woman less than forty? A. B. C.

Answer—Certainly a man of sixty-seven is not too old to marry. That is the prime of life now, and if a man is strong and healthy he has many years of life yet to look forward to.

I think that middle-aged people are very wise to marry, because they need companionship during the last lap of the journey more than they do at any other time along the road. The young can step out and go places and do things. They can find amusement and society, but when we get to the time of life where we want to stay put we want somebody across the lamp to whom we can say: "Do you remember?"

But I think a woman under forty is too young for a man of sixty-seven, unless she happens to be of a particularly staid disposition. Otherwise she would not have the same interests nor enjoy doing the same things or have the same background as the man.

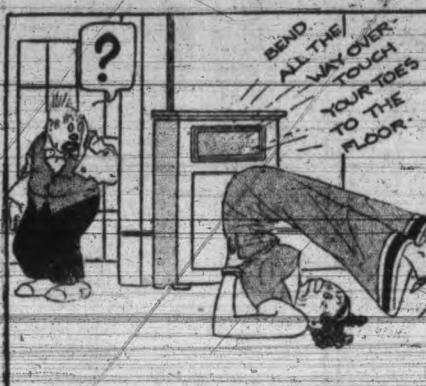

But after people are thirty age does not count. It is a matter of disposition and character. I know men and women in their eighties who are still mere giggling, light-hearted kids and jassies, and I know others in their twenties who are as old as Methuselah. DOROTHY DIX.

MAYO MILL TO RESUME WORK

Government Will Put Road in Shape, Duncan Chamber Is Notified

Special to The Times
Duncan, Feb. 2.—The regular meeting of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce was held in the Agricultural Hall Tuesday evening with Vice-President Harry Evans, in the chair. A letter was received from the public works department, stating that they would comply with the request of the chamber to put the road into the Mayo Lumber Company's mill in good order this month. In consequence of this, the Mayo Company will commence operations in March. The Vancouver Island-Horticultural Society offered to co-operate with the chamber in regard to the holding of the annual sweet pea festival in July 12 and 13. This offer was accepted. The chamber received a letter from the city regarding the difference in price of gasoline between Duncan and Victoria. The chamber will go further into this matter. A letter was received from Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Labor, asking the chamber to give support to the Tudor Rose League, which is sponsored by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. Dealing with the resolution from Lady Smith in regard to the importation of British coal, the chamber decided to defer any action until further information can be obtained. N. E. Suddaby was elected a new member.

WHAT HAWK INSTRUMENTS ARE USED IN AERIAL NAVIGATION?
ANSW. BY DICK AXMAN

DIAL YOUR PLANE NUMBER

Aviation now has a radiophone "switchboard" which allows radio telephone operators of air lines to communicate with planes in flight by merely dialing the number of a craft. The switchboard, shown above being operated by a dispatcher, is now in use on the New York-Chicago-Pacific Coast route of United Air Lines. It automatically tunes in any plane.

ROUMANIAN OIL FIRM IS RAIDED

Troops Rushed to Ploesti After Interior of Administration Building Demolished

Bucharest, Roumania, Feb. 2.—Troops were rushed yesterday evening to Ploesti to suppress serious disorders resulting from wage disputes at the Roumanian-American Oil Company's refinery.

A thousand workers were reported to have stormed the refinery gates and, unsatisfied by the explanation of the plant manager, to have demolished the interior of the administration building. Only the walls remained standing.

Troops stationed nearby were called out, but arrived after the damage had been done, arresting 250 of the rioters. When they returned to Ploesti with their prisoners, new rioting started, scores of workers attempting to free those under arrest.

The soldiers held the crowd at bay by firing into the air. Order finally was restored when the authorities decided to surrender the prisoners to the mob.

As soon as they saw their fellow-workers free, the rioters dispersed peacefully.

MANIFESTO FROM FRENCH ROYALIST

Paris, Feb. 2.—A manifesto from the Duke of Guise, Royalist leader and pretender to the French throne, calls for the formation of a dictatorship in France under a monarchy. The document, dated "in exile," and issued yesterday evening says the Republic has shown impotence and asks Frenchmen to choose between "authority, liberty and monarchy, and oppression, anarchy and socialism."

The Duke of Guise became the pretender to the throne on the death of the Duke of Orleans, one-time head of the Royalists, in April, 1926. He now is in Brussels.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAR TOLL HEAVY

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Feb. 2.—Dr. Arthur E. Eliot, president of the International College at Asuncion, said yesterday the "undeclared war" between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Gran Chaco had reached enormous proportions.

"More thousands have been killed than anybody cares to tell," he said. "Asuncion is a city of hospitals. Young women students from the best homes in Asuncion who never worked before are dressing wounds, sweeping and cooking for the soldiers."

SEATTLE CUTS POLICE FORCE

Seattle, Feb. 2.—Mayor John F. Dore yesterday ordered a drastic shake-up of the Seattle police department to "get as many policemen as possible out on the street and to cut office forces to a minimum."

Inspector Joseph J. Crawford and

Capt. Ralph Oimsted, veteran "gold braids" at headquarters, will be transferred to the "sticks" and the dry squad will be disbanded, as part of the reorganization. "We've got too many policemen doing everything except catching burglars and thieves," Mayor Dore declared. "The people of Seattle are not so much interested in Chinese lotteries and violations of the vice laws. They want to be safe in their homes and at their places of business."

It's Here!

You remember a few years ago — you had to crank your car with a little iron handle, had to wind up the gramophone before it would play — and Mother had to scrub her knuckles off on the washboard? Sure you do!

Then came electric car starters, the electrically-controlled gramophone, an electric washing machine — then you said to yourself, what next?

Well, here it is —

Just imagine sitting down to a game of bridge and having your cards all dealt for you — yes, better and quicker than you can deal them yourself.

It's a brand new invention, and it's a wonder! It's comparatively simple, too. The cards are placed in a small drawer on one side of the card table. When the drawer is closed the mechanism starts, automatically shuffling and dealing each hand into a little compartment, before each player. The shuffling action is so efficient that even if a pack of cards is placed in the table fifty-two times with all cards in exactly the same order each time, each deal will result in a different set of hands.

The inventor tells us there are six hundred billion possible combinations of hands — just figure that out!

To-morrow, at 3 p.m., and each afternoon following until further notice, this wonderful, almost human, card table will be demonstrated in our Victorian Bridge Room, Fourth Floor.

Don't be skeptical. Come in and see it work. It's a little wonder. No obligation to buy.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

Births, $1.00 per insertion.

Deaths, $1.00 per insertion.

Funeral notices, $1.00 per insertion.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement, count five words for the first line and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of error in insertion must be made within three days from the date of the error, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office, as well as the carrier. If your time is missing, phone 7532 between 8 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

"Play the Game" With the Children

SPORTSMANSHIP WEEK

SPONSORED BY THE VICTORIA KIWANIS CLUB

FEBRUARY 4 to FEBRUARY 11, 1933

Objectives

- 1—To promote and recognize sport, not as an end but as a means to develop character and manhood.
- 2—To accept and organize the sportsmanlike offer of Victoria sportsmen and athletes to devote one week's gates and admission receipts for the benefit of Victoria's needy children.
- 3—To arrange that every cent of the proceeds goes to supply necessitous children with clothing.

Strong Liverpool Cables Put Price Of Wheat Higher

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Strong cables from Liverpool and an export business of 500,000 bushels were responsible for gains of 1/4-1/2 in wheat prices on the grain exchange here today. Not much wheat was offered for sale here. May closed at 47-1/2; July at 47-1/2-B and October at 49.

The upturn at Liverpool was the result of good purchases of Canadian wheat yesterday when the Canadian dollar was weak. Foreign business yesterday was better than for any other day in the year. English buyers were able to cover their Canadian exchange at a low rate and booked substantial amounts of Manitoba out of value.

Oriental buying recently has included moderate amounts of Canadian wheat and two cargoes were reported from Vancouver to Shanghai yesterday.

Black Sea ports succeeded in clearing only 72,000 bushels of wheat for export this week and all of it came from Russia. The Argentine movement is expected to be the same this week as last, slightly over 3,700,000 bushels.

The usual dullness prevailed in the cash wheat market and spreads were practically unchanged. Sales of coarse grains were negligible.

PRICES EASY AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press
Montreal, Feb. 2.—The market closed with an easy tone in active trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today. Price changes were mixed.

International Nickel cancelled a morning loss to close unchanged at 91, while Brazilian increased its loss to 1/4, closing at 81/2. Canadian Pacific at 12 1/2 and Consolidated Smelters at 58 1/2, each finished 1/4 lower.

Montreal Power closed 1/4 higher at 20 1/2. Shawinigan yielded a small gain to close unchanged at 10 1/2. Power Corporation was up 1/4 at 9 1/2.

Banks were heavy. Commerce at 13 1/2 and Montreal at 17 1/2, each dipped 1/4, while Royal declined 1/4 at 13 1/2. B.C. Power 1/4 to 15, and McGill-Frontenac 1/4 to 7 1/2.

Hollinger was active, closing at a new high at 7 1/2, up 20 cents.

NORANDA UP AT TORONTO

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 2.—Noranda stepped into the race to-day and out-distanced the big gold shares in the run for higher levels. All the gold leaders touched new high to-day, being lifted up, partly by the increasing premium on U.S. funds in which the companies are paid for their production, and partly by the heavy buying into the companies by New York investors.

Trading continued on a remarkable high scale. Lake Shore closed around 33 1/2 for sale of 75. Dome about 31 1/2, Hollinger 27 1/2, McIntyre around 25 1/2. Teck around 4 3/8, and Wright-Hargreaves closed at 4 1/2, while Noranda advanced to 32 1/2, before slowing down.

The turnover in these several stocks was the heaviest in years.

All the secondary gold shares held up well with buying strong but no spectacular advances were made.

Buying was heavier in nickel and the quotation was up a few cents at the close. The other base metal stocks were quiet.

FORECLOSURES ARE PREVENTED

Struggle of Farmers Against Mortgages Continues; Legislators Consider Problems
Insurance Executive Says Leniency Must Not Be Taken Advantage of By Debtors

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Struggle of mortgage farmers in the United States against foreclosure continued to-day while lawmakers pondered their financial predicaments.

Outbreaks occurred in several sections yesterday while relief legislation was debated in Washington and state capitals.

Six Champaign County, Ill., neighbors of C. D. Brady, threatened execution of a court writ as the holder of a chattel mortgage attempted to seize machinery and livestock which sold for pennies at an auction dominated by Brady's friends.

Preventing the auction of a widow's farm, approximately 1,300 farmers escorted a representative of a mortgage company out of Cherokee, Okla.

Three cents an implement was paid at Aurora, Neb., as 800 farmers prevented competitive bidding at a sale of equipment under chattel mortgage. As in other cases during recent weeks, the property was given back to the farmer.

Congressional relief moved a step nearer. A Senate committee started study of the House bill to ban foreclosing on organized agriculture, put forward an amendment to provide "conciliation" commissioners to adjust debts between poverty-stricken farmers and the mortgage holders, who also face loss.

But hope waited for surplus control and commodity price legislation by the present Congress.

By Frank H. McConnell, Associated Press Financial Writer

INSURANCE STATEMENT
New York, Feb. 2.—Frederick H. Ecker, president of the $3,700,000 Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, said yesterday insurance companies' leniency in handling farm mortgages "does not imply that creditors are letting down the bars, or that borrowers are under less moral obligation than before to pay off their debts."

"It does mean that the utmost in co-operation is sought between creditors and debtors," he said.

"The big thing—and there is danger of overlooking it—is that the best interest of the home owner, be it in urban property or farm property, rests on the necessity that mortgage loans of that character should continue in the future to be looked upon as in the past, as an integral part of the community's life."

"In its endeavor to help the borrower, the law should not go too far to the extreme, thus making it difficult for a home owner to get credit in a perfectly legitimate way. It should not strike down the present restrictions which furnish ordinary safeguards for creditors."

The insurance company executive explained the reason savings banks, insurance companies and other institutions with vast funds left in their trust, have been willing to loan money on mortgage security lay in "the accepted belief that such loans would be paid, according to their terms. Should the present safeguards be weakened by legislative or other action, he said, the home owner would be the first to suffer. The value of his security would depreciate. It would be harder for him to raise money on mortgages. Credit would tighten up."

"It is unthinkable that any legislative action, which might undermine the binding moral force of mortgage contracts would be contemplated. But in discussing ways and means of relief for burdened debtors, it is important to think, to stress the fact that debt obligations may be relieved, but by no means dissolved."

SHIP WRECKED BY HUGE SEAS

Dover, Eng., Feb. 2.—The diminutive channel steamer Comet had her bridge stove in by a giant wave yesterday evening.

While proceeding from Calais with 165 passengers off a crack train, the little steamer bumped into a veritable wall of water which dived her back upon her stern and then came down with a rush upon the deck, carrying away the rigging and wrecking the bridge.

Passengers were violently sick and one of them suffered an eye injury. The steamer arrived half an hour late.

WILL DEPORT CHINESE CREW

Twenty Orientals For Ss. Santa Elisa Will Be Sent Home

New York, Feb. 2.—Twenty Chinese seamen brought to this country to work on the Grace liner Santa Elisa were ordered deported yesterday after a hearing before a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island.

General repairs to the Esquimalt Dockyard will cost $10,600. The sum of $3,000 has been set aside for the yearly dredging of Victoria's inner harbor. At Sidney $4,300 will be spent on the extension to the breakwater and for the floating landing.

The new ferry wharf to be built at Sidney, in place of the one wrecked by storms this winter, is not mentioned in the estimates. The Department at Ottawa is now considering the recommendations submitted there regarding the Sidney wharf. It is expected the new wharf will be built at the foot of the main highway at Sidney instead of at Bazar Bay.

At Comox the Dominion Government will spend $11,000 on general repairs to the wharf and on an extension to the floating landing.

Following is the dispatch from Ottawa telling of the work to be done in British Columbia this year:

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—Estimates tabled in the House of Commons yesterday include plans for public buildings in British Columbia, and also for harbor and river improvements. The following appropriations for the fiscal year 1933-34 are made under the heading "Public Buildings":

Dominion public buildings: Improvements and repairs, $45,000.

Esquimalt: Repairs and improvements at R.C.N. Barracks and H.M.C. Dockyard, $10,600.

Vancouver: Payment of instalment on purchase of army and installation of fittings, $18,000.

Vancouver public buildings: To meet one year's interest at 5 per cent on mortgage of $400,000, $20,000. Total, $93,000.

Under the heading of "Harbors and Rivers," the following appropriations are included:

Comox: Flat extension and wharf repairs, $11,000.

Fraser River: Repairs to Woodward's training wall, $14,000.

Fraser River: North Arm dredging, $30,000.

Port Clements: Wharf repairs and improvements, $5,500.

Stewart: Breakwater, $4,200.

Stewart: Wharf repairs, $11,000.

Victoria: Dredging, $5,000.

Harbors and rivers generally for maintenance of service, no new works to be undertaken, $10,000.

Total, $243,800.

Provision is made for certain telegraph and telephone lines, as follows:

Northern District: Repairs and improvements, $5,500.

British Columbia-Vancouver Island District: Repairs and improvements, $6,000.

Fulton telegraph system: Repairs and improvements, $15,000; total, $26,500.

ESSENTIAL UNDERTAKINGS

CRUISE LINER AT SINGAPORE

Ss. Empress of Britain Spends Day at World's Crossroads Before Leaving For Siam

Singapore, Feb. 2.—Here, at this crossroads of the world, the big Canadian world cruising liner Empress of Britain, arrived early this morning from Batavia. She will leave tomorrow morning for Siam.

British residents of Singapore mingled with natives in the huge crowd assembled on the dock to give a welcome to the Empress on her second call at this port. Many of the passengers had friends here and they were immediately taken in charge and whisked away on motor drives to places of interest about the city.

The Empress of Britain will spend all next Sunday in the capital city of Siam, before leaving for Manila. Thursday will be spent in the Philippines, and then the ship will leave for Hongkong to spend five days.

The cruise is just now about half over. The Empress sailed from New York December 2 and will return there April 11. Already she has traveled half way around the world. She has been across two oceans, the Atlantic and the Indian, through the Mediterranean Sea and through the Suez Canal. There still remain another great ocean, the Pacific, and the world's greatest canal, the Panama Canal, before she completes her long voyage.

AUSTRALIANS HONOR GERMANS

Hamburg, Feb. 2.—A huge laurel wreath, preserved in a block of ice, arrived today on the steamer Magdeburg, a gift of the Australian Government to the German Navy.

It is in recognition of the heroism of the crew of the famous cruiser Emden, which was sunk by the Australian cruiser Sydney November 9, 1914.

Warships On Winter Trips

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 2.—The British West India squadron, of the Royal Navy, on a four-month cruise of southern waters, arrived at Trinidad last Friday and will remain here until next week before sailing for Kingston, Jamaica.

The squadron has a flagship, the 10,000-ton Norfolk, which recently came out from England.

The two destroyers from Halifax, the Gage and the Champlain, joined the fleet here after a rough trip from their Nova Scotia base.

It probably was the nastiest weather that our Canadian destroyers have experienced in some time," stated Lieut. Paul B. Cross of the Saguenay.

after an interview with Reeve Crouch, in which the board was informed that education estimates would have to be pruned by around $25,000.

A joint committee of trustees and councillors will seek a conference with the school teachers in an effort to attain further salary reductions.

Reeve Crouch announced that the municipality would have to provide $81,000 above the revenue available last year. This total included an increase of $22,000 in the cost of unemployment relief, $8,000 in social services, a bank overdraft of $38,000, unpaid accounts totaling $5,000 and larger sums for hospital and public health charges. There would also have to be a larger appropriation for tax sale properties.

The trustees were informed that last year they had received from the council $94,540.88, which was $15,805.19 more than the total of $78,735.69 raised by the school levy. The estimate of tax collections has not been attained by $13,000 and the reeve forecast that only 75 per cent of the 1933 levy would be collected. Councillor W. R. Woods, chairman of the council's finance committee, supported the statistics quoted by Reeve Crouch and appealed to the trustees to help the council keep the tax rate as low as possible.

ASKED FOR $25,000

Trustee W. P. Jeune asked the extent of the reduction in school estimates desired by the council and was told cuts totaling $25,000 would have to be made. Trustee Jeune believed that the board should meet the teachers and discuss proposals for further reductions in salaries.

The council delegation was informed that the school board had contracted with the teachers for a new salary schedule, which provided salary cuts ranging from 5 to 15 per cent. The contract would be effective until the end of June if the teachers insisted, but could be modified by mutual agreement.

Trustee W. W. Duncan doubted whether the teachers would consent to further reductions, but Trustee James had confidence that additional concessions could be attained by a conference with the teachers.

MAY CLOSE SCHOOLS

Reeve Crouch then commented that the circumstances were so serious the teachers would quickly see the necessity of accepting further reductions in pay, if the trustees would frankly explain the situation. The teachers realized that the tax revenue of Saanich was limited by the ability of the people to pay, and would appreciate the fact that if no reduction were attained, the taxpayers could only provide enough money to pay salaries up to the end of June.

"If there is no co-operation in this matter Saanich will either be unable to re-open the schools in September or teachers will have to go unpaid for the remainder of the year," the reeve warned.

Councillor Woods said that, regardless of the provisions of the Schools Act, the schools could not open if there was no money for teachers' salaries.

Trustee Jeune suggested the trustees call the teachers into conference in regard to further salary reductions, and Reeve Crouch agreed to appointment of council representatives at the meeting.

In the meantime the proposed municipal joint economy conference was postponed.

A vote of thanks was tendered Reeve Crouch, Councillor Woods and R. R. P. Sewell, municipal clerk, who comprised the council delegation.

SPRING SONG

SPORTS WEEK HAS TWO AIMS

To Develop Spirit of Sportsmanship and Assist Needy Children

"In sponsoring a Sports Week the Kiwanis Club has a twofold object in view—to foster the spirit of sportsmanship among the young and, at the same time, to provide clothing for needy children," Walter Walker, secretary of the Kiwanis Club, said yesterday in commenting on the week's programme which will start with a soccer game and swimming gala on Saturday.

"During the Christmas season," he continued, "these children are usually well cared for by the citizens in Victoria but from now until spring, through lack of organized effort, they are liable to be overlooked. This objective is, therefore, put on at this time to bridge that gap and as the public response to the ticket sale so far has been most gratifying the Kiwanis Club feels that it will have a goodly sum to distribute for this worthy object."

All sporting organizations in the city are supporting the club nobly and so many are helping that it will be difficult to thank all for the wonderful assistance that is being received. Players and executives of all athletic organizations, who have been approached, are giving their time freely and the anticipated expenses for all the functions will be only nominal. being received and the very worthy object should inspire the citizens to continue to meet the ticket sellers with a generous response.

"For the information of those who have overlooked previous announcements we would state that Sports Week is made up of both indoor and outdoor games to be held in the various places as outlined on the tickets and in the official programme which will be distributed free."

"One outstanding feature will be the church service at the Metropolitan United Church on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. E. F. Church, a Kiwanian, will preach a special sermon."

"Another event which is not covered by the tickets issued is the sportsmen's dinner to be held at the Hudson's Bay Company on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. This dinner will be open to the public, including women. Tickets can be purchased at the door. A fine programme is being provided, and preparations are being made to accommodate 300 diners."

TRADES COUNCIL TAKES UP CASE

To Make Appeal on Behalf of Man Sentenced For Theft of Car

The Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening decided to take up the case of Alfred Hetherington, who was sentenced recently to one year in jail for car theft, with a view to securing a mitigation of the punishment.

The case was an unusual one, it was pointed out. Hetherington was in hospital. He left the place in his pyjamas and jumped into a car parked in front of the place, driving to the police station.

He pleaded guilty to the charge of car stealing and received the minimum sentence under the act.

Efforts of the trades council may lead to an appeal to the Minister of Justice for clemency.

Old Sores Soon Healed or Money Back

Never think you have to put up with old sores. You don't! And you shouldn't for they may lead to something serious. No matter how long you have had them, get after them at once with Emerald Oil and they'll heal over as nice as can be in no time.

If this soothing, healing, antiseptic oil doesn't quickly heal them up, says B.C. Drugs, Ltd., MacFarlane Drug Co., get your money back and see a doctor.

Gag men give WALT DISNEY ideas for MICKEY MOUSE

Musician wear headphones while making the score

Hollywood—E was over to call on Mickey Mouse to-day... and because there's so much interest in Mickey, Minnie, and Pluto... I thought it might be interesting to tell something about their origin.

First of all... the gag men get together and outline ideas with rough sketches, to make them plainer... When a decision finally is reached, a small army of artists... mostly girls... start work on background and figures... Each drawing is laid on a table and photographed with a special camera which points downward... so the film is made.

Sound effects have to be added next... When the musical score is recorded, each musician wears a pair of headphones into which comes clicks from a metronome to maintain the steady beat to keep time with the music. This, of course, is changed from time to time, as rhythm and beat must suit the antics of the characters.

Dialogue is made ahead of the film... which is the direct reverse of the ordinary cartoon studios... and the pictures are fitted to the sound. To effect this, intricate charts are kept and the result must be letter perfect.

There are several specialists maintained by Walt Disney... who is Mickey Mouse's papa... to furnish weird and unusual sound effects. One of them is the vocal ghost for

Kingston Convict Takes Own Life

Canadian Press

Kingston, Ont., Feb. 2—Terror as what he believed was a plot and other convicts to "gang him" caused Vito Dellevichio to hang himself with a bed sheet, a coroner's jury found yesterday at the inquest on the death of the prisoner.

Alleged threats he was to be "on the spot" in some manner caused Dellevichio to request he be moved to a cell under the keepers' he and although officials thought fear of being "ganged" by other convicts was not founded, in fact, the complied with the request. Afterward he was moved to the prison isolation ward, where he committed suicide.

and Dr. Thomas J. Vearson, dentist, only took all the gold in the dentist's cabinet, but also dug away the gold from a new set of plates.
